THE EQUALIZERS.

An Outgrowth of Bellamy's Last Book

THE NATIONALIST ORGANIZATIONS.

The Origin and Progress of the New Societies of Students of Social Science.

Many ask, "What and who are the Nationalists?" The new "issue" bids fair to become a craze, and all over the United States Nationalist clubs are springing up like mushrooms. The curiosity of the people as to what and who is but natural.

The Nationalist Club has an odd origin. It was started by a book, "Looking Backward," by Edward Bellamy of Chicopee Falls, Mass. Its hero is a young Bostonian, who goes into a mesmeric sleep in 1887, and awakes in the year 2000. He finds Boston a bigger, brighter, and brainier city than ever. But the social conditions are entirely changed. The Government has become the employer of all, the provider of all. Service is required of all between the ages of 21 and 45. After that the income of each continues, but each may pass his time as he chooses. Machinery has become so efficient that the hours of those who labor are but brief. There is no money and no wages. In place of this each person receives a non-transferable certificate, entitling him to an equal share with all others in the annual product of the country. For convenience sake this is made up in book form, with little coupons representing dollars and cents, and when the holder makes a purchase the amount is punched out. There are no prisons and no poorhouses. Neither are there any churches; every one is connected with the "sermon room" by telephone. So with lecture rooms and concert halls.

But the book is packed with such detail it cannot be told in a paragraph. The condition of things it portrays was attained by the gradual absorption by the Government of all monopolies and trusts. Beginning with a hatred of them, people gradually were led to see that these gigantic combinations really afforded the cheapest way of producing everything and finally they confiscated the whole lot.

The Boston Nationalist Club was the first, and formed by interested readers of this book. Captain Charles E. Bowers, United States Army, is the President. Clubs have rapidly sprung up in New York, Hartford, Conn.; Washington, D. C.; Portsmouth, N. H.; Westboro, Mass.; Troy, N. Y.; Albany, N. Y.; Cincinnati, Minneapolis, Oakland, Cal., also in numerous localities in Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, and Alabama.

Among the prominent people who are enthusiastic Nationalists are Rev. Edward Everett Hale, Colonel T. W. Higginson, the well known writer; Francis E. Willard, the President of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union; Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, the temperance lecturer and advocate of woman's rights; Rabbi Solomon Schindler, the acknowledged leader of Jewish thought in New England; Mrs. Abbey Morton Diaz, President of the Woman's Educational and Industrial Union, and scores of other more or less known.

Rabbi Solomon Schindler is translating "Looking Backward" into the German language. Asked in regard to nationalism and the work of the club the Rabbi said: "Why do I believe in Nationalism? Because the nation guarantees to every person a good livelihood, securing in exchange from the person his best work. Most assuredly I believe the idea is a practical one. If the nation can take charge of the transit and delivery of my mail why can it not also carry my packages? If it can carry packages why can it not also carry the persons who own the packages? If, furthermore, the nation can defend the safety of its subjects by means of its army and its navy, why may it not defend them against hunger and thirst? I see no reason in the same line of logical sequence why the Government should not supply the school children with lunch, since it already supplies them with books. Again, the city of Boston controls and directs the sewage of the city. Why should it not also control the horse cars and other large interests that are centered in its limits? Such results are not at all improbable, for this is a period of transition. Large corporations are continually buying up smaller ones, and the ratio will continue until the largest of all are merged into the Government."

The Rabbi in speaking of the inability of educated people finding the kind of work they can do under competition said: "When I arrived in New York from Germany, eighteen years ago, with just as much ability as I now possess, though, of course, with not so broad an experience, I could find no way to employ my knowledge for a long time. I searched in all parts of the city for an occupation, but no opportunity presented itself. At last I secured employment in a sawmill at $6 per week. Nationalism prevents this and destroys forever the fear now existing in the hearts of the people that to-morrow they may be deprived of their means of earning their livelihood."

Rev. Edward Everett Hale said recently of the theory of the nationalists in regard to the railway question: "If a great railway corporation fails, if the creditors want to make the best of the ruin the United States appoints a receiver, who appoints all the officers, audits all the accounts, incurs all expenses, and manages the road for the best interest of all concerned. I have often heard it said that roads administered by receivers were on the whole better administered than those in the hands of directors chosen by the owners. The United States then can administer a railroad well if by good fortune it be a bankrupt railway." Why not before it is bankrupt?

"In spite of the supposed corruption of our Government, whatever party is in control, our letters are delivered punctually, our roads are made, our houses are supplied with water and our cities are drained."

Colonel Thomas Wentworth Higginson says: "The government seems to have done extremely well with whatsoever it has assumed the management of. I have always been in favor of co-operation as against competition, and I believe the essence of nationalism is for the very best interest of the people."

Cyrus Field Willard, secretary of the Boston Club, says: "As long as a private individual has a right to buy and sell the necessaries of life, any number can come together and pool their control of their property in the necessaries of life, thus forming a 'trust.' What is right for one individual to do is right for any number. All laws against trusts will therefore fail. The only solution for this is for the nation, organized administratively, to conduct the industries in trust for the people. Precedents are as thick as blackberries.

"We now have a political republic. What we want is an industrial republic. We want no more coal barons, factory lords, railroad kings, merchant princes, silver kings, or oil kings. We want the individual slavery of to-day abolished, and it will be."

Edward Bellamy, the author of "Looking Backward," when asked his opinion as to the probable method by which the existing industrial system will tend to evolve toward nationalism during the next dozen years, said: "By the progressive nationalism of industry two lines may be indicated along which the process of nationalization is likely to take place. One is the assumption of entire governmental control over particular groups of industries. Those already under syndicate management have become the most thoroughly systemized, as for example, the telegraph, telephone, railroad, and express services. The various municipal services of lighting, water, heat, etc., should as soon as possible become branches of public administration. It is scarcely necessary to say that strictly non-political basis of administration of all nationalized business would be an essential condition to any programme favored by nationalism."

"What is the other line along which we are advancing toward Nationalization?"

"It is the extension of supervisory national control over forms of industry for which it may be expedient, immediately, to assume the entire responsibility.

"Industries to which it will be particularly and stringently applicable from the start will be those like the coal supply, the lumbering and fishery business, which deal with staples that may in a peculiar sense, be said to be the common inheritance of the people.

"Those industries touching closely the food supply of the people are destined speedily to pass under some form of national regulation. The manipulators of corners in grain, meat, sugar, coffee and other food markets are doing far more to bring in nationalism than the arguments of its advocates."

SHE'LL FIND BABY DEAD.

The News Awaiting a Mother When She Came Home.

The Little Children Left Alone Play With Lamps and One Is Burned to Death.

Little Mary Norton, aged 6 years, was burned to death yesterday afternoon. The little girl is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Norton, residing at 1862 Division street in West Oakland. Mrs. Norton, the mother of the child, left home last Thursday afternoon presumably to visit San Francisco. The two children, Lulu and Mary, were locked in the house and Mrs. Norton carried the key with her. The father who is an employe of the sash and door factory of West Oakland had not been informed of his wife's absence, in fact it is said that Mrs. Norton frequently leaves home without giving her husband notice, and one time she remained away for five days. These continued absences of the mother have caused the husband no little trouble and has set the neighborly tongues a wagging. Late Thursday afternoon, when the husband came home from his day's work he found the two little children playing contentedly in the house. He entered by a side door and prepared the evening meal for the children. Yesterday he departed for his work and the little ones were again left to themselves. About noon little Lizzie Hankey, aged 5, came over to play with the children. After doing everything in the way of amusement that children could think of they entered a front room about four o'clock to have a little fun with the pictures. Soon tiring of this they got hold of three lamps and set them on the floor. In handling the lamps little Mary accidentally upset her lamp and spilled the contents on her dress. Unmindful of this she obtained a match and proceeded to light the lamps. The match evidently fell into her lap, for suddenly she was enveloped in flames. Frightened nearly to death the little one ran into the yard, screaming for help, and her flight only fanned the flames and made them worse. Mrs. M. A. Downing was attracted by the cries of the child, but was powerless to offer assistance. Another neighbor arrived, and when she placed her hand on the little one's head the hair and flesh dropped off. The little girl was horribly burned, and little bits of flesh actually dropped from her burned limbs. She was literally roasted, from her head to her knees. Dr. Burton was called and he did all he could to save the child, but he clearly saw that the little one could not long survive the terrible accident. While he was attending her, and just before her death at 6 o'clock, the child said, with tears in her little eyes, "Doctor, when mamma comes home she will find one of her babies dead." Those were her last words, for she died soon after in terrible agony. Coroner Evers was notified and took charge of the remains. Up to a late hour last night the mother had not returned.

Mrs. Norton was on her way homeward last night when she heard of the terrible injury which had befallen her daughter. Scarcely realizing that it was true, the lady hastened homeward, where she arrived just after the little Mary had died. Her grief over the occurrence was so great that it was thought she would do bodily injury to herself, and she had to be watched lest she should attempt it. She is nearly prostrated with grief, and at her earnest solicitations the body was not removed to the Morgue, but was left at the house, where an inquest was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The bereaved family have the sympathy of all the neighbors, who are doing all in their power to assist them.

Gathering of the Clans.

The seventh annual gathering of the clans under the banner of the San Francisco Scottish Thistle Club will take place at Shell Mound Park on Thursday, July 4th. Over 100 prizes and a large amount of money will be given to winners of the different races. Two bands of music will be in attendance.

Like Lauck Long.

The members of Company A, Fifth Infantry Regiment of Oakland are trying to induce Captain J. B. Lauck again to accept the position of Captain of that company, now made vacant by his own resignation. Captain Lauck arrived from the East this morning.

Rose and His Fence.

J. H. Rose erected a fence on his property at Berkeley a few days ago. Mrs. Patrick Reddy, who is a neighbor, did not like the fence, so she tore it down and carried it away. This morning Rose caused her arrest for malicious mischief.

Miss Donnelly's Vacation.

Miss Lizzie Donnelly, who has conducted a coffee house and branch bakery on East Fourteenth street, near Thirteenth avenue, has gone away on a month's vacation. In the meantime Mrs. Zoe Munson is in charge.

DIRECT DENIAL.

Mrs. Hay's Remarks Upon Senator Moffitt.

THE SENATOR'S PROMPT DENIAL.

An Evening Conversation at the City Prison in the Imprisoned Woman's Cell.

Mrs. A. E. Hay sat in the courtroom this morning. She was placed under an open window in order that the air of the courtroom might not cause her to faint. She pleaded not guilty to the second charge of libel preferred by William B. Saufly, the libel alleged to consist of a publication of improper relations between Saufly and Mrs. T. W. Fenn (Sophie Search).

James D. Nairne was also in court, and asked that he be allowed until Monday to plead.

As Mrs. Hay was led from the courtroom and started to return to her cell she fainted in the hallway and would have fallen had not Nairne caught her in his arms. Maaz Mackenzie rushed up and, taking the fainting woman in his arms, he pushed Nairne away, shouting:

"Back, you scoundrel, don't you touch her. Take your hands off from her."

She recovered in a few moments and was taken down stairs, where her husband was allowed to remain with her. Mrs. Hay made the following statement to a TRIBUNE reporter this morning:

"I would like to have the truth of that interview with Mr. Moffitt last night appear. I telephoned for Mr. Moffitt and he came. He said: 'Doctor Hay, you sent for me, didn't you?' I said 'Yes.' He said, very kindly: 'Well, doctor, what is it you want of me?' I said: 'I have sent for you just to look around and see my lonely home, the felon's cell that you have sent me to.' He said: 'Well, what is it you wish?' I said: 'Mr. Moffitt I simply want to borrow your pencil. I wish, as I am a felon in a cell, to add my name to those already inscribed there. That is all I wish with you.' He was wild and he asked: 'Look here, is that all you sent for me for?' I said 'Yes.'

"Then he asked me: 'Is it true that you are Mackenzie's wife?' I told him that I refused to answer either way, but he could rest assured that if he is my husband he is an honorable man or I would not have had him, but I refused to make any statement. He said: 'I was told that you were married in Sausalito.' I refused to say anything. He said: 'Now look here, you are not his wife, because I have had a man searching in Marin county and he can find no record of the marriage.' I said 'You can have it your way,' he said. 'Now can't I publish in to-morrow's paper that you are not his wife?'

"I told him that I defied him. He said: 'I know that you are not his wife, because I have traced your career for the past six years.' I said, 'Yes, and in that time what have you discovered?'

"He said that he was glad that he had found out many good points. I told him that I didn't believe him, for no man could trace me for six years. In that time I have been all over Europe, and as far as India. Six years ago I was in India.

"He said, 'Look at yourself; you are the dupe of these people.' I said, 'I am one lone woman against a Senator with all Sacramento at his back.' Then he asked me if Mr. Dietz had promised money, or all that sort of thing. Mr. Dietz and I have not had any conversation about the matter. I once had a conversation with Dietz one evening, but it was in regard to some money due my husband for back wages. I made the remark that I sympathized with Mr. Dietz in his downfall, and that he was not alone, for Moffitt had sent Sophie Search to my place to write me up. But the word dollar never passed between Mr. Dietz and myself, but this I will say, that Nairne came to my house and told me that Dietz had sent word to me that he would see me righted. How true this is I don't know, or whether Nairne was lying I do not know.

"Mr. Moffitt said last night if I would allow him to bring his attorney to see me to-day, and if I would sign an affidavit to the effect that he had not been criminally intimate with Sophie Search in my house that it would be worth $1000 to me, and that I could go forth to-day a free woman. I called the jailer and repeated the words to him."

"He made a similar offer to me," said Mackenzie, who was present, interrupting.

"He said he would ask me once more. I told him that what I had sworn to was true. I did not see him in the room with Sophie, but I saw him leave the house at 4 o'clock in the morning. I knew him by his walk and his clothes. Sophie Search made no secret of it. She said that she was solid on the Times, for she had Moffitt at her back.

"There are many men who are willing to go my bonds but they are afraid of being written up by the great Senator. He says in his paper that he left me hysterical, when in reality he left me laughing at the joke I had on him."

An Explicit Denial by Senator Moffitt.

Senator Moffitt gave a very explicit denial that he ever made Mrs. Hay such an offer. Said he:

"Knowing that the woman was a professional blackmailer I did not go to her cell unattended. There were no such remarks as she says were made, and there were no inducements of any character held out to her, but on the contrary I told her that I should never let up in my prosecution, and this remark was heard by several. Among those others who heard this is a reporter on THE EVENING TRIBUNE, who, like myself and another reporter, took down in writing every word that was said."

Mr. Moffitt Corroborated.

John F. Conners, in reply to questions asked by a TRIBUNE reporter, says that he heard the conversation between Senator Moffitt and Mrs. Hay. Mr. Moffitt made no offer to pay her $1000, or any other sum, if she would sign an affidavit to the effect that he had not been on intimate relations with Sophie Search. He made no offer either to relinquish the prosecution of the case in which she is defendant. He heard Mr. Moffitt say that he intends to prosecute the case to the bitter end. Mr. Conners says that Mrs. Hay's account of the conversation is untruthful in many other respects. He stood outside the cell by the side of the wicket, not in sight of the persons in the cell, and he took notes of the conversation.

Another Street.

Filbert street, from Twenty-fourth street to Twenty-sixth, has been graded and macadamized by W. M. Diggins or $1634 83—$1 55 a front foot.

Applying for Divorce.

Lizzie K. Hume has sued Joseph Hume for a divorce. The parties reside at Berkeley.

"NO SABBE."

Sixty Days in Jail Will Probably Make Lay Shing "Hip Sabbe."

Deputy County Assessor A. E. Hall was near Haywards a few days since collecting poll taxes. That is where he met Lay Shing, who had charge of a gang of Chinamen.

He demanded to know the names of the Chinamen in order that he might collect their poll tax, but Lay Shing said "No sabbe."

Mr. Hall informed him that he was an official and authorized under the law to collect poll taxes from every male resident of Alameda county over the age of 21 years and under the age of 60 years, except in such cases as is provided for by law, but Lay Shing said, "No sabbe."

"Then I will arrest you if you refuse to give me the names," remarked the man who collects the poll tax, but Lay Shing said "No sabbe."

The Chinaman was arrested and was sentenced to serve sixty days in the County Jail by Justice Austin and before his term expires he will probably "hip sabbe" what it means to monkey with the poll tax collector.

IN THE OOZE AND SLIME.

A Machinist of a Dredger Drowned in the Estuary.

A fatal and at present unaccountable accident occurred at an early hour this morning on the San Francisco Bridge Company's dredger at work near Twenty-third avenue, which resulted in the drowning of an employe named John Hill.

From the accounts, as obtained by a TRIBUNE reporter who visited the scene of the fatality this forenoon it appears that Hill fell from the upper deck and struck the narrow projection of the lower deck, and from there fell into the muddy water below. But what caused the fatal fall is so far a mystery. The men who were to be seen this morning belong to the day watch, and knew very little more than the mere fact of the accident and the victim's death. The accident happened about 4:30 this morning, and at 5:30 the body was recovered. It was found partly buried in the slimy mud and ooze that surrounds the dredger. An Alameda undertaker was notified and the body was removed to Alameda about 9 o'clock this morning.

The deceased was employed in the capacity of assistant machinist, and had charge of the machinery during the night watch. He was about 23 years old, of sober habits, and was familiar with every inch of the premises. What caused him to fall as he did is still shrouded in mystery. The men employed there assign it to purely an accident.

The body was subsequently brought to the Coroner's office in Oakland.

ONE MAN IN TEN.

That Proportion Will Believe a Chinaman Under Oath.

After taking two days and exhausting two panels and likewise 125 good citizens, twelve jurors were obtained in the Police Court yesterday afternoon to try Ah You for selling lottery tickets.

The trial was much the same as any other trial of a Chinese lottery agent. J. P. Scanlon told of the purchase of the ticket and produced it in evidence. Then M. C. Chapman, the attorney for Ah You, tried to prove that Mr. Scanlon had been rewarded with a place on the police force for the work that he did in raiding the Chinese lottery dens. J. A. Boquet, who said that his name is pronounced like a basket of flowers, told of the purchase of a ticket.

Frank Farrington was very frank. He had purchased the ticket and had deposited it with a friend. He was not willing to trust it in the keeping of Scanlon, and he didn't suppose that Scanlon would be willing to trust it to him, because it might draw some money, and there was no use putting temptation in the way of the holder of the ticket.

Gee Gum translated the ticket, which is the same as any other and explained it. He said that he is a Christian, and has not purchased a lottery ticket for twenty years. He would not testify to Mr. Scanlon's Christianity, not necessarily on account of the purchase of the ticket, but from other evidence. Neither would he testify to Mr. Chapman's Christianity.

The case went over until this morning, and Ah You was ordered into custody, which greatly disgusted that gentleman.

SUCCESSFUL APPLICANTS.

Result of the Recent Teachers' Examination.

At the meeting of the County Board of Education this morning the announcement of the successful applicants at the recent semi-annual county teachers' examination was made as follows:

Grammar school course—Arthur W. Jones, San Francisco; Mary A. Sullivan, Oakland.

Grammar grade—Virginia Welton, Berkeley; Gussie Woodall, Berkeley; Willard D. Kinsbury, Oakland.

Primary grade — Jesse D. Cornor, Mary M. Miller, Sadie E. Myrick, Oakland; Jennie E. Barrows, Janet K. Storrie, San Francisco; Ruth Larne, East Oakland; Annie E. Chase, Irvington; Estelle Ingraham, Eleanor Ingraham, Newark.

PERSONAL MENTION.

—Mrs. C. H. Dolph, a former teacher at Mills, is a guest at the college.

—Rev. George T. Morris of the West End, Alameda, has returned from his trip in the northern part of the State where he has been lecturing on temperance.

—Rev. H. H. Rice will leave on Monday for Pacific Grove, where he will take a prominent part in the Chautauqua Assembly, which will begin on July 1st and continue to the 15th. He will conduct the Sunday school normal class daily at 2 P. M. Mr. Rice left to-day for Monterey.

—Noble Hamilton, formerly Judge of the Superior Court of this county, will return from his temporary residence in San Francisco to this city in a few months. He will open a law office in the new Delger block, corner of Seventh street and Broadway. Mr. Hamilton enjoys the little change of living in San Francisco. He lived continuously in this county for thirty-five years, and for eighteen successive years occupied the same house on Jackson street.

Arbitration.

The printers who left the office of the Times on Thursday evening because the manager of the paper, Senator Moffitt, refused a demand of the printers for payment for setting up printed matter borrowed from another paper, just as though it had been set in the Times office, have returned to work, accepting Senator Moffitt's proposition to submit the matter to arbitration.

CYANIDE.

How It Feels to Die From That Corrosive Drug.

BURROUGHS' ACCOUNT OF HIS SUICIDE

In a Letter to His Wife He Gives a History of Lonesome Suffering in the Fields.

The missing Alfred S. Burroughs, his sensational departure from this city last April, and his recent arrest in Los Angeles are all familiar facts to the readers of newspapers. His patient and faithful wife has suffered in silence, and although she has been more or less in communication with him since his departure, she has given no sign. She has received several letters from her husband, one of which will be found below. It reflects sufferings so horrible in their details as no pen of fiction has portrayed for many a day. A letter from the good lady who took care of the unhappy man and nursed him back to health is also appended. Burroughs's own letter begins as follows

SACRAMENTO, May 2[illegible], 1889.

My Beloved and Much Abused Wife: How shall I begin this letter? What shall I say? I fear that, say what I may, it will be an unwelcome communication, for it deserves no more charitable attention than your contempt." * * *

Then follow some very affectionate passages, avowals of his love for wife and children. He recounts his several failures in business ventures and his final determination to die by his own hand. The letter continues:

You understand the causes which led to this desperate resolution, so I will not speak of that. It is sufficient to say that I had for days been laying my deadly plans. I sold my office furniture for $20 and then, after mailing letters to you and him, took the morning train for Woodland, in Yolo county, reaching there at 8:30 P. M. My plan was to get as far away as I could so recognition would not follow. The only thing about me indicating identity was the name on my shirt—that of "D. Musto." This served me a good purpose. I went to a hotel, wrote a letter to the Coroner telling him where to look for my remains, and enclosing $15 to buy a grave for me and assist in defraying the expense of burial. To this I signed the name of "D. Musto." I mailed the letter, bought 20 grains of cyanide of potassium at a drugstore and then struck out in the country. About a mile north of town, in an open field and concealed by some scrubby bushes, I halted and swallowed the deadly drug. One tenth of that quantity is regarded as a fatal dose, but to make sure of no failure I took the whole 20 grains. Almost instantly a sense of dizziness came over me; my heart ceased to beat, causing a feeling of suffocation, and I became totally blind. I remember falling to the ground and then all was blank. When I next came to myself it was probably noon of the next day, and the sun was shining in my face. My tongue—swollen larger than my wrist—was protruding from my mouth, and was covered with gnats and flies. I was frantic with thirst, burning up with fever, and drawn double with the most excruciating pains in my stomach. My head too was almost bursting with pain. I tried to get up, but could not. It was all I could do to brush the flies from my tongue.

I could not put my tongue back in my mouth, though, for it it was as hard and dry as sole leather and utterly devoid of feeling. Until the sun went down I lay there, expecting to die at any moment. I even prayed that I might die, and thus end my agony. At last, by a succession of desperate and exhausting efforts I managed to crawl to a little pool of muddy water about thirty feet away, but when I tried to drink I found it impossible. I could not swallow a drop. I was literally dying with thirst and internally burning up, but the best I could do was to bathe my swollen tongue and parched mouth with my wet fingers. I kept this up until I was tired out, but it had refreshed me a good deal and had partially restored the feeling to my tongue.

At length, worn out, I fell asleep, but woke up soon afterward nearly frozen and wet with dew. I was unable to remedy the matter and had to endure it until the sun came out next morning and warmed me. A good nap followed, and I awoke very much improved. The swelling had so far left my tongue that I could put it back in my mouth, and I was able to swallow a little water. My pains were less severe but when I stood up and tried to walk, I fell like a log, nearly dislocating my shoulder. That was on Saturday, two days after I left home, and I lay there until Sunday afternoon without food and utterly helpless. To my great wonder the coroner paid no heed to my letter, and no one came near until toward evening, when a Chinaman came within hailing distance. I could scarcely speak but managed to make him understand that I wanted something to eat and gave him twenty-five cents to get it with. He came back about dark with a bottle of milk and some bread, but as all the skin had come off my mouth and tongue I was only able to drink the milk. It did me a world of good, too, and strengthened me to such an extent that I was able, by steadying myself on the bushes to walk a little. Despite the cold I slept well that night, and was so much improved next morning that I resolved to start out to some other place. I got some more milk at the nearest house and then started north along the railroad track. It took me until dark to reach Yolo, three miles distant, and then I was completely tired out. I had only 80 cents left, but I went to the hotel, bought a glass of milk and went to bed.

The next morning I could scarcely move, and was badly bloated about the stomach and legs. I was forced to stay until the afternoon, but as the bloating had by that time gone down some, I got a bottle of milk at the grocery and started on again. When out of the village I stopped beside the track to drink the milk, and when that was done picked up the paper the bottle had been wrapped in, and began looking it over. It was a San Francisco paper, and about the first thing I noticed was the account of my disappearance. It had a very exciting effect upon my poor, distressed brain, and I lost control of myself completely before I knew it. The item stated that you had declared your intention of paying my debts by dressmaking, and that was what so unnerved me. The picture of you, patient and courageous, working your life out to remove the burden I had rolled upon you, was too much for my mind. I recollect that my feelings burst out in a fit of hysterical sobbing, and then I recall no more until, a week later, I found myself in bed at a farmhouse about a mile from Orland, Colusa county. How or when I had got there I do not know, though I must have walked the whole distance—more than eighty miles—upon the railroad track. The people told me I had been found wandering about the ranch out of my mind, and that soon after being taken in charge I had become unconscious. A doctor was summoned, and after two days of raving and delirium I had come to my senses. I suppose much of this was due to a want of food, for I do not think I ate anything from the time I left Yolo. I am sure I had bought none, for the 20 cents I had when I left that town were still in my pocket when found at Orland. The old lady, Mrs. Sherman and her husband, did all for me that could have been done for their own son, and for Mrs. S's motherly kindness and attention I shall always feel deeply grateful. During all these days of helplessness, many of which I was unable to help myself in the least, she never left me for a moment. I was there from April 30th to May 9th, and then, as they would not let me work to pay for their kindness, I went away, still keeping north. I was still so weak that I could not walk more than a few hundred yards without resting, but I made as much progress as I could. The first night I slept in a freight car, and in the morning I was bloated again about the legs so that I could hardly walk. I kept on, though and four days afterward I reached Red Bluff."

The remainder of the letter deals only with private family affairs. He subsequently went to Sacramento, at which place he wrote this letter.

About two weeks previous to the arrival of her husband's letter Mrs. Burroughs received the communication from Mrs. E. B. Sherman of Oakland, the lady who had so kindly taken care of the unfortunate man, in which she described the circumstances under which he was found upon the farm and the nursing which was necessary to bring him back to health.

Such is the story of this unhappy and unfortunate man. Of the offenses alleged to have been committed by her husband Mrs. Burroughs knows nothing. She firmly believes he is insane, as many of his actions seem to indicate. He was arraigned for trial in Los Angeles today for sending the obscene letter.

Is the Seamstress an Heiress.

Minnie Duncan Jensen, a seamstress living in this city, is said to be a daughter of James Duncan, the California pioneer, who died in February of last year, leaving an estate valued at over $50,000. Up to this time no heirs have been found, but Mrs. Jensen claims that Duncan was married to her mother in Newark, N. J., in 1856, and she claims to have proof to substantiate her claim on the estate.

Duncan was an eccentric Scotchman, who made a fortune in the tannery business in the early days of the State, and in 1856, when he is said to have married, he was just returning from a brief visit to his home in Scotland. It is said that there is a sister of the dead man at New Orleans, who also has a claim to the estate, and a contest will likely follow.

PULPIT AND PEW.

Many Services to Be Held by Visitors

REV. J. H. GARNETT'S RESIGNATION.

The Topics, Practical and Doctrinal, Upon Which the Clergy Will Address Their Congregations.

The Tenth Avenue Baptist Church will have a change of pastors on September 1st, owing to the resignation of the incumbent, Rev. J. H. Garnett. He has intimated on several occasions during the past two months that he would resign, as he had purchased the religious paper, Herald of Truth, which required all his time and labor, but his parishioners requested him to reconsider his decision. Last Wednesday evening, however, he insisted upon the acceptance of his resignation, which will take effect on the date mentioned.

PULPIT THEMES.

Rev. A. J. Sturtevant will preach morning and evening at the San Pablo Avenue Baptist Church. Evening subject, "His Own Place."

At the First Methodist Episcopal Church Rev. J. D. Hammond, D. D., of San Francisco will preach at 11 A. M. and Rev. E. F. Kingdon at 7:30 P. M. Young People's meeting at 6:30 P. M. Bishop J. H. Vincent, D. D., LL.D., will deliver his great lecture, "That Boy, Who Shall Have Him?" in this church Monday evening, July 8th.

At the Tenth Avenue Baptist Church Rev. J. Herndon Garnett, pastor, will preach morning and evening. Theme for evening: "What My Religion Does for Me in This Present Time."

At Asbury Methodist Church, South, corner Clay and Fifteenth street, there will be preaching at 11 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. In the evening Rev. H. [illegible], presiding elder of the San Francisco district, will preach.

At Bethany Presbyterian Chapel, on Fifth street, near Jefferson, there will be Sunday school at 3 P. M. and preaching at 7:30 P. M. by Rev. M. Williams.

At the Universalist Chapel tomorrow morning Rev. S. Goodenough will preach on "True Liberty and the Liberty of Truth. A discourse for the times."

Rev. N. L. Powell of San Francisco will officiate at the morning service tomorrow at the First Free Baptist Church. The only evening service will be the meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor at 6 o'clock.

At the Second Presbyterian Church Rev. H. H. Rice will preach at 11 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. Sacraments of baptism and communion at the morning service. Evening subject: "Growing into Christ."

At the Harrison street Baptist Church on Harrison street between Fourth and Fifth streets, Rev. W. T. Fleenor, pastor, there will be preaching at 11:15 A. M. and 7:30 P. M.

Gospel tent revival services will be held in a tent, corner of Seventh and Market streets. An address by Charles Montgomery at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and revival services conducted by several evangelists in the evening at 7:45 o'clock. Meetings every night except Saturday nights. All are invited. Seats free, hymn books free and no collections.

"Devotion to the Church of God" will be the morning topic at the Chase Street Congregational Church tomorrow. Dr. Spragne, who has been, for fifteen years, a missionary in China, will speak in the evening.

"What Think Ye of Christ" will be the subject of the reunion at morning service at the Thirty-fourth Street Methodist Church.

Sunday school will be held at 1:30 P. M., at the Temescal Methodist Church.

Rev. Dr. J. H. Wythe will preach at the Eighth Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church in the morning, and Rev. J. M. Alexander in the evening. Sunday school at 12 [illegible]. Young People's meeting at [illegible].

At the First Baptist Church, corner of Fourteenth and Brush street, there will be preaching by the pastor morning and evening at the usual hours. Morning subject: "His Name, Wonderful." Baptism at the close of the evening service.

Non-churchgoers are especially invited to "hear the other side" at the First Presbyterian Church to-morrow morning on the theme "Shall We Go to Church?" By special request the pastor will talk in an easy and simple way in the evening upon the theme "What Good Is It to Pray?" Rev. Dr. Horton will preach on both occasions. Evening service at 7:30 o'clock.

There will be services at 11 A. M. at the First Unitarian Church to-morrow. Rev. Samuel M. Crothers, of St. Paul, Minn., will occupy the pulpit.

BAD BOMGARD.

Two Divorces Granted To-day by Judge Gibson.

Margaret M. Olmstead was this morning granted a divorce from Charles W. Olmstead, on the ground of desertion. The plaintiff testified that on one occasion her husband wanted her to consent to allow him to bring a woman into the house, but she refused, and he deserted her.

Then came Jennie Bomgard, who wanted a legal separation from Solomon Bomgard on the ground of extreme cruelty. The woman testified that she is the mother of nine children, and that her husband's desire to secure money led him to commit outrageous cruelties on his family. His craving for money went to such an extent that he thought more of his horse than he did of one of his children because it was worth more money to him. When his daughter desired to be married a short time since he positively refused to give his consent, because he would lose her earnings, as she was working in a store for a meager salary. It was also related that he would tie his 6 year old child to a chair and beat him in a brutal manner. The divorce was granted as prayed for, and the wife was given a part of the community property, valued at $2500.

The False Record.

Possibly Private Peter O'Rourke of the Third Regiment, who was found guilty and dishonorably discharged from the National Guard for falsifying the report of Captain McAlpin's shooting at Shell Mound Park on the occasion of the annual shoot last year, will be reinstated.

It will be remembered that Orderly Sergeant Murphy was also implicated and was found guilty, but before he could be sentenced he was taken sick and died. On his death bed he made a confession that Captain McAlpin had paid the markers at the target $10 apiece to give him a good record. Murphy was also in the secret, and had himself paid one of the boys $1[illegible]. On this showing Captain McAlpin will un-

COLD FACTS.

The Senate Committee and an Open Letter.

Mr. TOWNE ON CANADIAN ROADS.

A Masterly Massing of Commercial Figures Showing the Manner of Canadian Competition.

The diplomatic relations of this country with Canada are important enough to seriously engage the attention of a Senate Committee. None the less important are the commercial relations of one part of the country with another, as affected by Canadian competition. More particularly should investigation concern itself with the position of common carriers.

Upon this topic the Senate Committee is well informed by A. N. Towne, who has just addressed them an open letter of considerable length and important character, from which the following extracts are taken:

"I understand the Dominion Government has granted the Canadian Pacific Railway a subsidy or bonus of $25,000,000; has donated to it 25,000,000 acres of land, embracing only such as are suitable for settlement; has also given right of way, station grounds, dock privileges, and water frontage in so far as within the control of the Government; and, further, has constructed and transferred to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, free of cost, 714 miles of railway, the estimated value of which, according to that railway company's report for the year 1887, is $35,000,000. The Canadian Pacific was permitted to import steel rails free of duty, also other material used in the construction of its road and telegraph line. Under its charter, the Canadian Pacific is freed for all time from taxation by the Dominion government or by any provincial government established after date of its charter. Its land grant in the Northwest Territory is free from taxation for twenty years unless sold in the meantime. In addition to all this the Canadian government has bound itself not to permit, during the term of twenty years, the building of any line or lines that would parallel the Canadian Pacific Railway. This we believe to be the most liberal grant ever bestowed by a constitutional government."

"The differential rates which the United States roads were compelled to accord the Canadian Pacific Railway were devised as the best available plan for preventing that foreign competitor from practically destroying the through traffic of the United States roads, because the Canadian Pacific's local business not being subject to the inter-state commerce law, they are in a position to absolutely dictate and control the rates at which the United States lines may carry through traffic, by simply underbidding United States lines and pursuing that policy until they obtain a recognition which their geographical position and commercial influence could not themselves secure.

"It may be true that, theoretically, the Canadian Pacific Railway is subject to the inter-state traffic passing to or from Canada; but it is obvious that, while the United States roads are subject to all the restraints the Inter-state Commerce Act imposes, it is impossible for this Government to hold the Canadian Pacific Railway to an observance of the law; for the United States can have no jurisdiction over the rates charged on intermediate business picked up and laid down in Canada, which, together with the relatively small amount interchanged between points in Canada and the United States amounts to 96 per cent of that company's entire earnings, according to a published letter from the President of that company.

"The Canadian Pacific Railway can thus make rates on through business without interfering with its earnings on traffic between Vancouver on the west and Canadian frontier points on the east, or between points intermediate thereto. Even on business, for example, from San Francisco to Canadian points, formerly wholly enjoyed by the American roads, we have no means of knowing whether the Canadian Pacific Railway obeys the law or not in this regard; for that company might take freight to Winnipeg at a higher rate than for same class of traffic through Winnipeg to Chicago; but the consignee in Canada, even if he knew our law, would be very unlikely to seek or receive redress from a United States Court or Commission as against a Canadian road.

"The Canadian Pacific road, as an individual corporation, has really been built by the Canadian Government, their gifts of money, of land, and of credit being unexampled in the history of the world, immensely increasing the national debt to expedite the road's completion.

"As already mentioned, the Canadian Pacific Railway is, under its charter, freed for all time from taxation by the Dominion or by any Province established after the date of the charter. Its land grant in the western territory is also freed from taxation for twenty years, unless sold in the meantime.

"The Canadian Pacific Railway, in consequence of the munificent aid it has received, has the lowest fixed charges of any system of roads on the American continent, being less per mile by one half than the average fixed charges per mile of the combined United States roads for interest on their bonded debt alone. It also has cheap labor and material for its construction, repairs and maintenance expenses. It has, accessible to a large portion of its lines, extensive fields of coal of the finest quality and in exhaustless quantity, thus insuring an abundant fuel supply at low prices, in contrast with which the item of fuel alone is a most serious expense to the Southern Pacific Company, which pays a greater price therefor than any other company on this continent, the 6000 miles of country through which its roads run being without available coal.

"This much favored foreign company should not enjoy privileges and immunities denied the railroads of the United States under the interstate commerce law, which, so far as it concerns the subject under consideration, should, as I view it, be so amended as to recognize the unequal contest in which the United States carriers are forced to engage with foreign carriers seeking United States or international traffic.

"Interstate and international traffic of foreign carriers should therefore be regulated by treaty and legislation, or other adequate means. Further than this, the law should include all transportation lines—water as well as rail—competing for the traffic upon which the railroads of the United States depend for revenue to meet their financial obligation, which is of the utmost importance to the people dependent on the roads and enjoying the benefits they confer.

"The most insidious instance of England's movements for the maintenance of commercial supremacy, the invasion of American commerce, and the absorption of the benefits of American prosperity is found in the Canadian Pacific Railway and its steamship lines. Not only has his road, with its cheap construction and equipment, its cheap labor and bounteous Government assistance, already cut largely into a carrying trade that rightfully belongs to the United States, but it is steadily reaching for more to seize more.

"The President of the Canadian Pacific Railway is reported to have said that his company was getting, at the present time, about 10 per cent of the entire trans-continental traffic. Since this gentleman is reported to have admitted that this amount represented only about 4 per cent of the entire traffic of his company, it is evident that this great subsidized and foreign corporation can afford to force the rates down far below the cost of carriage, thus dictating the rates at which the roads of the United States must accept the remaining 90 per cent of the traffic—naturally theirs—or abandon the business. Ten per cent of the traffic may not seem large to the casual observer; but it should not be forgotten that the taking of a tenth at a non-paying rate would of itself do little or no harm to that company—not burdened with as heavy responsibilities as the American transcontinental lines and having a valuable local business; but it fixes the rates for, say, one third of the entire traffic of competing American lines at which they must accept the business or surrender to the foreign carrier, which pays out no money to our people, owes no allegiance to this country, and of course is not compelled to respect the strict and binding laws enforced upon the American carriers.

"This impending danger to our industries and enterprise and this curious feature of protection, which has not yet attracted the attention it merits, should engage the earnest consideration of Congress."

That bad breath comes from indigestion. Take Samaritan Nervine. It stops the cause. $1.50.

Timely Advice—A Familiar Talk.

Let us give the readers of THE TRIBUNE a little timely advice. Hot weather is coming and with it colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. The only safe way to combat these diseases, is to keep some reliable remedy at hand, and all who have tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy will admit that it is the most prompt, reliable and successful medicine known for these complaints. It costs but 25 or 50 cents, and may be the means of saving you or your family much suffering, if not life itself, before the summer is over. For sale by WEITMAN & HENRY, 1170 Broadway.

Funds for Health.

The Board of Health has drafted an estimate of the sum necessary to carry on its work during the next fiscal year, and has presented it to the Auditor for incorporation in his apportionment of the city's funds. The total sum, $31,000, is a large one, but at the same time it must be taken into consideration that the board has an important work to do and that most of the expense is an extraordinary charge made necessary by neglect of long continuance.

Two items, $5700 for salaries and $300 for incidentals, foot up a total of $6000, and about this amount there will be no dispute. The salaries of the Health Officer and his assistants have already been fixed, and the sum mentioned is the total of the twelve monthly salaries which have been by proper authority allowed them.

The other items in this estimate, aggregating $25,000, are all contingent, they may be expended and again they may not, and the determination of that matter rests not with the Board of Health, but in two instances with the Council and in the third with Providence.

The contingency of the allowance of $10,000 for the handling of contagious diseases must be apparent. The Board of Health is simply reading the lesson written on an unpleasant page of our history and is simply making preparations that it may not be caught powerless, as it was when the smallpox came upon us.

For a pesthouse $8000 is estimated. The expenditure of that sum, if the allotment is made, rests with the Council only, and they will be governed by economical considerations. The same qualification inheres in the item of $7000 for a garbage crematory.

Thus considered, the Board of Health's estimate does not seem exorbitant for the work it has to do.

A most wise and proper step is the action of the health authorities in laying the enactment of the plumbing and draining rules. These have been carefully compiled from the regulations in force in such cities of this country and foreign parts as rank high in regard of sanitary considerations. The peculiar local condition of this city have been carefully weighed and the rules have been revised by the best architects and plumbers having a familiarity with our needs. Rules thus prepared ought certainly to be of good character. Before definitely enacting them however, the Board of Health will publish them and invite the criticisms of all concerned. After doing thus fairly by the community no objection should be made when the rules go into effect.

The State Reform School for Juveniles is more definitely assuming shape. The efforts to reform idle and vicious boys are to be carried out by winning their confidence and by educating them to habits of industry, not by restraint under bolt and bar. Not in every case will this succeed; some there are who must be restrained, but experience elsewhere has shown that the results of this system are generally good.

There is need for the elevation of the stage in Mongolian drama as well as the Caucasian sort. The hatchetmen of San Francisco known as the Suey On Tong received a benefit at the temple of the Mongolian god Thos Pis. With consummate ingratitude they rotten-egged the performers. White people never could have done that for they would not have understood the eggs for missiles.

It is unfortunate that there should be a hitch about the America cup sufficient to prevent a race this year. The cup was won by reason of the fact that the America vanquished all the English yachts. In all fairness the cup should be held against all comers without restrictions of any sort.

The distressing fate of the little girl burned to death yesterday should serve a lively reminder to all parents that kerosene and matches left within the reach of small children are quite as dangerous as gunpowder.

Days of Brawn.

There prevails at this fag end of June a general atmosphere of fists and hoofs and the extensor and flexor muscles which direct those fists and hoofs to deeds of endurance and speed. We are all interested for the time in muscle and sinew and thew. These are days of brawn.

Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Kilrain, it is understood, will in a few days take an eugenic promenade in Louisiana. A rope will be placed about the scene of their lusty endeavors so that the distance they travel will be so far restricted as to place all the spectators on an equal footing so far as concerns the seeing of the exercise. Mr. Sullivan's hands are said to be in the best of condition, and Mr. Kilrain places his trust in a secret toilet preparation which he sedulously uses on his maileys.

In all parts of the country horses are speeding about long tracks in the company of other horses, and feeling well repaid if they can indicate their desire to leave the company of their fellow steeds by even as much as a head. The literary gentlemen of the tracks make their books with the assistance of these who indulge in such studies, and all goes merrily.

On the Thames at New London the flower of our youth and the finest fruit of our colleges have been displayed in blocks of eight with an infinitesimal coxswain urging a very thin boat through the water to the great and overpowering delight of enthusiastic friends who line the shore and make the noise while the aquatic gentlemen do the work. That yesterday's race was something of a funeral procession, that six lengths intervened between Yale and Harvard shows, of course, the superiority of the blue curriculum over the crimson, and bears testimony to the excellent instruction given by Bob Cook, professor of differential rowing.

Yes indeed, these latter June days are the brawn days.

The continuance of earthquake shocks in Lassen county and the general unsettlement of the foundations of the solid earth recall recollections of an eruption that occurred there within the memory of men yet living, who saw afar off the distant glory of its fires.

In the winter of 1850 Lassen had no white population at all, and therefore its volcanic activity still remains obscure. Residents of Red Bluff and of Angels saw flames in the sky, but the cause they did not know. In the following spring two hardy prospectors pushed into the country and found Cinder Cone in eruption. Their tale of hot rocks and glowing lava was told from camp to camp and soon forgotten. Now the old story is undergoing a revival, and the good people of Lassen are waiting in anxious dread lest the subterranean fires again break forth.

This visit of the Pharmaceuts to this city last night ought to lead them to add a new remedy to the pharmacopeia, one which surpasses in its curative powers all their powders, pills, and potions. The new remedy which they discovered last night does not come in bottles, it is pleasant to take, and its beneficial results are seen from the first. It is known as Oaklandhospitality, and the dose recommended is quantum suff., and come again.

Uncle Jerry's Purpose.

New York Mirror.

They are telling any quantity of funny stories about that witty old raconteur, Uncle Jerry Rusk, the Agriculture Secretary of the Harrison Administration. One of the best that has come to my hearing was related to me the other day. At a recent meeting of the Cabinet in Washington, it appears, Uncle Jerry made some sort of a proposition that was promptly and vigorously sat down upon by the whole Cabinet. The terms of this squelching were very severe, and Uncle Jerry rose to his feet, saying:

"I fully understand that I am the tail of this Administration but what this Administration most needs is a tail—to keep the flies off.

Dream Ships.

Lightly as over meadow grass
The bird and cloud in shadow pass,
So lightly over Dreamland sea
My bonny ships sail merrily.
As, slowly rounding into view
Above the azure rim of night,
From ports of slumber earthward blown,
Down the long reaches of the blue
They sail into the mellow light
Of moon and star.

From ports of Slumber earthward blown,
From isles of Night in seas unknown,
From charmed bays and fairy shores,
Gaily and large of sail and free
Dropping at eve with noiseless oars,
Stately galleons, triple-decked,
With yellow frigots in the hold,
And many a stately brigantine,
With slender spars of mountain pine,
And sails of whitest moonbeams wrought,
Light as the bannered gossamer
That trails upon the autumn breeze
From brown October's russet trees.

A bow-shot from the moonlight sward,
In deep sea meadows, blossomed starred,
My bonny ships at anchor swing.
O mariners, what do ye bring?
Pearls from the mermaid's watery cell,
Pure gold from sunny Orient lands,
With many a rosy chambered cell,
And jewels wrought by elfin hands;
Crosses and amulets of price,
Enwrought with many a rare device;
Fair flowers, the nurslings of the spring;
Birds sweet of song and bright of wing,
With fruitage of the summer zone,
And many a fair embossed stone
Well worth the ransom of a king.

Only in dreams, alas! alas!
My white ships sail the tideless sea;
Only in dreams their shadows pass,
Bird like, across the moonlit lee.
Only in dreams! All day they lie,
Dark hull, white sail, and slender spar,
Moored in the lee of some fair star
Islanded in the upper sky.

Fruit Vale Oranges.

The first shipment of oranges from Fruit Vale has been received in San Francisco. The fruit is of the Mediterranean sweet variety, being large in size, thought slightly green. The oranges were raised by A. Brandermuhl on the old Rhoda place, which twenty years ago was noted for the Royal Ann cherries grown there.

The Blue Ribbon Club.

The usual Sunday evening meeting of the Blue Ribbon Club will be held tomorrow evening in the Athenæum, corner of Goss and Wood streets, West Oakland. Professor William Crowherst, formerly Grand Lecturer of the Good Templars of California and Oregon, will address the meeting. Service of song as usual.

NOT A DECEPTION.

The J. Simmons New Improved Refrigerators and Cooling Rooms.

Which Are Now Manufactured Under New and Greatly Improved Plans of Construction—A Sharp Incisive Reply, Without Malice, to the Minnesota Refrigerator Company.

To Whom It May Concern: The Minnesota Refrigerator Company of Minneapolis recently published a card cautioning the public "against purchasing or dealing in refrigerators, ice-boxes or cooling rooms constructed under the Simmons patent, or dealing in said articles with one James Simmons, a former agent of the Simmons Refrigerator Company, which was succeeded by said Minnesota Refrigerator Company." Now, in reply to this notice, which is misleading and tends to injure the sale of these valuable appliances as manufactured by me, and which have nothing to do with the patent referred to by the Minnesota Company, of January 18, 1881, I would say that I would sell and convey to said Minnesota Company my rights in that specific patent and which I would not now use under any circumstances, had I the right to do so, for the reason that I have invented a new and very much improved method, much superior to the old one they refer to. This is the result of many years of practical experience in manufacturing and using similar appliances by me, to which I have devoted my entire time and attention. The public should not understand that the refrigerators I am now manufacturing are under the patent of January 18, 1881, which was conveyed to the Minnesota Company, but much superior, in so far that they are constructed on more scientific principles than those that the Minnesota Company are privileged to use. All contracts for these goods made by me, in conjunction with O. H. Burnham of the well known firm of Burnham, Standeford & Co., of Oakland, Cal., will be guaranteed to all purchasers of my improved refrigerators against all liabilities of whatever nature, and I hereby give notice that any refrigerator placed upon the market having the name of Simmons thereon is not a genuine article, and is inferior in every respect to the new improved and only genuine machine, each of which is stamped "The J. Simmons New Improved," and which I am now offering for sale at the main office, 621 Market street, Palace Hotel, San Francisco. Every size of the refrigerator will be kept in stock, or made to order, at the shortest notice, adapted to every purpose for which they are desired, from the smallest family size up to the largest cold-storage capacity. Every refrigerator or cooling room guaranteed to be perfect in every respect, and sold at reasonable prices.

We invite those interested to inspect the Minnesota Refrigerator and our own under intelligent direction, and judge for themselves of the merits of each.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

Sufferers

FROM Stomach and Liver derangements—Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick-Headache, and Constipation—find a safe and certain relief in Ayer's Pills. In all cases where a cathartic is needed, these Pills are recommended by leading physicians.

Dr. T. E. Hastings, of Baltimore, says: "Ayer's Pills are the best cathartic and aperient within the reach of my profession."

Dr. John W. Brown, of Oceana, W. Va., writes: "I have prescribed Ayer's Pills in my practice, and find them excellent. I urge their general use in families."

"For a number of years I was afflicted with biliousness which almost destroyed my health. I tried various remedies, but nothing afforded me any relief until I began to take Ayer's Pills."—G. S. Vanderlieh, Scranton, Pa.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years, and am satisfied I should not be alive to-day if it had not been for them. They cured me of dyspepsia when all other remedies failed, and their occasional use has kept me in a healthy condition ever since."—T. P. Brown, Chester, Pa.

"Having been subject, for years, to constipation, without being able to find much relief, I at last tried Ayer's Pills, and deem it both a duty and a pleasure to testify that I have derived great benefit from their use. For over two years past I have taken one of these Pills every night before retiring. I would not willingly be without them."—G. W. Bowman, 26 East Main st., Carlisle, Pa.

"Ayer's Pills have been used in my family upwards of twenty years, and have completely verified all that is claimed for them. In attacks of piles, from which I suffered many years, they afforded me greater relief than any medicine I ever tried."—Thomas F. Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

A FORKED LOVER.

An Angry Husband Jabs His Wife's Guest.

A SHARP AGRICULTURAL WEAPON.

Jack Hughes's Unlucky Visit to Mrs. Reyes at Her Husband's Milk Ranch.

There was a lively time in the house of farmer and dairyman Antone Reyes last night. It was a scene in which an irate husband chastised a young man who had usurped the affections of his wife. Reyes owns a farm on San Pablo avenue and is the owner of a milk route in this city. He has a pretty young wife, Annie Reyes, but of late she has paid more attention to other men than is proper for a married woman and this is why Mr. Reyes is on the warpath. About two months ago Reyes became convinced of his wife's infidelity, and commenced suit against her in the Superior Court to obtain a divorce. The fair but fickle girl averred that she had been true to her marriage vows, and contested the suit, asserting that her husband was of a jealous disposition and had treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner. Finally the case came up for hearing before Judge Gibson on a motion for alimony made by the wife. His Honor was of the opinion that Reyes should support his wife until the case was tried, so he made an order to that effect. Since that time Reyes has been supporting his wife, and she has been living at the house on the ranch, while the husband has made his home at a cabin near by.

Last night a watchman rapped at the door of Reyes's room and informed him that he had just seen a man go into his wife's house.

"A man gone into my wife's house," remarked farmer Reyes. "I own the furniture in that house. That woman is still my wife, and she has no right to receive other men. I will go and see who it is."

Reyes called two of his trusted workmen to his assistance, and arming himself with a pitchfork, prepared to bombard the house wherein was supposed to be a man and the fair but not gentle Annie.

Reyes boldly stepped up to the front door and gave a thundering rap.

There was no response.

Again he rapped a little louder, but still there came no answer. He was angry, and as he threw his weight against the door the bolts gave way and Reyes and his assistants were soon within.

Quietly and quickly they went to the room once occupied by husband and wife.

No response came to the knock on the door. All was quiet within the room.

The slender lock on the door soon gave way to the strength of the irate husband, and in an instant he was within the room. "Let us have light," he said, and there was light, and Reyes stood before his wife a living witness of her infidelity.

The pitchfork as it descended caused Jack Hughes, a young man who resides but a short distance from the house, to squirm with pain. His head was covered with the blanket but his body, however, was exposed to the stinging blows from the weapon in the hands of the infuriated Reyes.

The wife begged, pleaded, and commanded her husband to desist in his punishment of her friend. But he heard her not, and the blows fell thick and fast on Hughes, who by this time came out from under the blankets. As a heavy blow was about to fall on Hughes, the fickle Annie threw herself in its way and took the blow intended for her lover.

She screamed with pain, and in the confusion that followed the light was put out.

Reyes became alarmed lest Hughes should shoot him in the dark, and withdrew from the room and house, leaving Hughes and his Annie to weep over their wounds.

When morning came Mrs. Reyes caused her husband to be arrested on a charge of an assault with a deadly weapon. He was taken to the County Jail, but was soon released by giving bonds in the sum of $2000.

"I could have killed the traitor," said Reyes this morning, "but I did not want to stick him with a pitchfork, being satisfied with giving him a sound thrashing."

Farragut's Seamanship.
Stockton Mail.

The admiral had some peculiar ideas in regard to the tides. He didn't think the moon had anything to do with tides. He told me so frankly. But there was one thing Farragut knew. He knew everything from the tip top of the highest mast down to the bottom of the keel. He knew, if he had anything to do with a ship, what it was made of, whether it was in good working order, and whether things were properly in place. He couldn't keep his hands off when he was out sailing; his fingers were itching to get hold of the ropes. There was a beautiful pilot boat called the Fenimore Cooper that would beat the best steamer every time going to San Francisco. I have seen Farragut on her trips standing with folded arms at the tiller looking at the skies and ropes. Ignoring the master, he would call out after awhile, "Haul in that rope!" or "Draw in that a little!" And the first thing the master would be sitting looking on and Farragut would be sailing our craft. He told me many a time that he regretted the discovery of steam, or, rather its application to navigation. It took all the romance out of naval warfare. He believed in appealing to the elements and the winds; there was something so majestic and grand about it, and so much skill was required in captaining a man-of-war when nothing but the winds and the tides were to be appealed to. He knew all the waters of the globe and the winds and the vessels. In fact, he never left anything unlearned that would make him an effective man in his position as a United States Navy [illegible]

FORGED AFFIDAVITS.

G. Washington Silver Held to Answer a Charge of Felony.

The preliminary examination of George W. Silver on the charge of felony yesterday afternoon before Justice Byler resulted in his being held before the Superior Court with bonds in the sum of $2000.

The first witness was F. J. Krauth, clerk of Department Three of the Superior Court, who testified to filing the affidavit which Silver is alleged to have forged and presented to the court for a fraudulent purpose.

Judge Ellsworth, before whom Silver's contempt case is pending, testified that upon the strength of the affidavit, which purported to have been signed by B. McKinne of San Francisco, certifying that he was present in the Supreme Court when Silver was admitted to practice, he granted a continuance in the contempt proceedings.

B. McKinne, whose name it is alleged Silver forged, testified: "My name is Barna McKinne. I lived in Stockton about fifteen years ago, and knew Silva there. I have since seen him in San Francisco. That is not my signature on the affidavit, and I never swore to it. I have not been in the office of Hanlon, the Notary Public, before whom it is verified, since he changed his location, which was last November. I never saw this affidavit until Judge Ellsworth showed it to me. Silver never asked me to sign an affidavit, and never talked to me about his contempt case. I do not know of any other lawyer or any other person by the name of McKinne."

Daniel Hanlon, the Notary Public, testified as follows: "That is my signature and my notorial seal on the affidavit. On the 11th day of last May, as I was about to leave my office, two men came into my office, and one said he wished to make an affidavit. He had this paper in his hand (pointing to the so-called affidavit.) As I did not think the matter of any consequence I verified the paper. I don't know whether the defendant, Silver, was one of the men or not, as I was in a hurry to get away and took no particular notice of either. I know McKinne, but the thought of him did not occur to me. I did notice, however, that one of the men walked lame."

Silver offered nothing in defense, and as he was unable to furnish the $2000 bonds he was taken back to the County Jail.

Police Officer Chisholm and Charles Price of this city were riding in a two-wheeled cart in Moraga valley a few days ago, and while they were going down a steep grade their horse became frightened and jumped to one side. The cart tipped over and Chisholm went over the grade and rolled down the hillside, a distance of about fifty feet. Fortunately the hillside was covered with brush and vines, and he escaped with a few bruises. Price was not injured.

Nature.

As a fond mother, when the day is over,
Leads by the hand her little child to bed,
Half willing, half reluctant to be led,
And leave his broken playthings on the floor,
Still gazing at them through the open door,
Nor wholly reassured and comforted
By promises of others in their stead,
Which, though more splendid, may not please him more;
So Nature deals with us, and takes away
Our playthings, one by one, and by the hand
Leads us to rest so gently, that we go,
Scarce knowing if we wish to go or stay,
Being too full of sleep to understand
How far the unknown transcends the what we know.

THIRTY THOUSAND.

The Sum Wanted by the Board of Health.

UNSANITARY CHINESE SHANTIES.

Health Officer Crowley's Report Upon the Investigation of Central Chinatown.

Liberal enough was the estimate made last evening by the Board of Health for expenses for the fiscal year to begin July 1st. The members who made this estimate were Drs. Pinkerton, Adams, and Southard. Drs. Woolsey and Pardee were not present at the meeting.

The report of Health Officer Crowley upon the investigation of central Chinatown contains the following sentences: "I cannot say that dirt and filth was very plentiful, or was the main feature; indeed many of the rooms in various buildings had an apparent neatness which is not present among numerous native European and American families. I stated the rooms were not particularly uncleanly. In this particular I mean the accumulation of masses of dirt. I do not imply, however, that the Chinese quarters are anything else but a sanitary nuisance. My reasons are as follows: the want of sewer connection; no sewer at all; cesspools; horses maintained in houses used for human habitation; fluids permitted to soak through floor into ground; last, but not least, the masses of human beings congregated in the smallest possible space, filling the atmosphere with their own exhalations and the pungent fumes of opium. The question now arises, Who are the more guilty of maintaining these nuisances, the Chinese or the proprietors? I would suggest the propriety of holding the property owners responsible, and in this particular I desire the advice of the Board of Health."

Dr. Adams said that the duty of the board is plain. Nuisances in Chinatown must be treated as nuisances anywhere else. A section of the city cannot be condemned as a nuisance. Every particular nuisance must be specifically investigated, and proper notices must be issued. The property owners should be compelled to place their property in proper sanitary condition.

Dr. Southard agreed with Dr. Adams as to the infeasibility of condemning a section of the city and compelling the property owners to place their property in good condition. In his remarks he said that in his opinion every wash-house conducted by Chinese is a nuisance.

The board decided to visit premises occupied by Chinese at some evening not to be made public in advance. If the Chinese learn of the intended visit of the board the houses occupied by them will be depopulated.

A remark was made that a pure air ordinance is needed in this city, and Dr. Crowley said that such an ordinance would be of use to improve the sanitary condition of central Chinatown.

Dr. Crowley asked that the Board of Health recommend to the Board of Public Works that the Board of Public Works recommend to the City Council that an additional Sanitary Inspector be appointed, and succinctly pointed out the work necessary to be done.

The board adopted the suggestion of the Health Officer.

The following estimate of expenses for the next fiscal year was ordered transmitted to the Auditor:

Salaries	$5,700
Contagious diseases	10,000
Smallpox Hospital building	4,000
Land for Smallpox Hospital	4,000
Crematory for garbage	7,000
Incidental expenses	300
Total	$31,000

A communication from the Board of Public Works suggesting that the public dumps near the corner of Twenty-second and Peralta streets constitutes a public nuisance, excited some discussion.

Finally it was decided to send a communication to the Board of Public Works advising that the construction of the crematory, already recommended by the Board of Health, will settle the matter of disposition of garbage.

Rules for plumbing were read and ordered printed. The rules require registration of plumbers; a bond for $500, to be approved by the Health Officer to be given by each plumber; a license to be granted by the Board of Health to a plumber before he can conduct business; plans for plumbing must be filed at Health Office; all sewers to be inspected by Sanitary Inspector; violation of the rules works forfeiture of the license.

The draft of the rules was ordered printed before further consideration.

Schamyl's Scimetar.
New York Sun.

Here is a story that is told by one of our esteemed fellow citizens: "When I sat down to breakfast in Delmonico's I noticed at the other side of the table a queer looking, gaunt-faced old man, who did not seem at ease in his suit of New York clothes. After a time I made a friendly approach to him by offering a small courtesy at the table, accompanied by a few words. He did not understand English, but I found that he spoke French in a curious way. We struck up acquaintance, and before our coffee pots were empty we were on confidential terms, which seemed to give him great pleasure. He was a stranger in New York, to which he had just come, and did not know anybody in the city. He grew so friendly that after breakfast he invited me to accompany him to a room which he had taken the previous day. He there told me that he was a Calmuck in the Russian service, and that during a leave of absence he had come to New York, which he had been anxious to see. I noticed a pair of Turkish trousers hanging on the wall, and beside them a curved short sword of peculiar form, and destitute of the regulation hilt or handle. As I looked at it he said: 'Take it down, draw out the scimetar, and you'll find a thumb ring by which it can be used.' I did as he directed, found the ring spoken of, grasped the weapon, and began to handle it. While doing so I bent it, and I noticed that instead of springing back when the pressure was taken off, it returned gradually to its proper form. It had evidently been formed from an untold number of steel rings welded together like the old Damascus blades. When asked about it he told a curious tale. 'One day,' he said, 'forty years ago, when I was in the Caucasus under Voronzoff, a cloud of Circassian cavalry under Schamyl suddenly came upon us in a pass. A Circassian with a drawn scimetar galloped toward me and I raised my sword to guard my head, but he cut it in twain by a single stroke as he would have cut a carrot. At that moment his brain was pierced by one of our Calmuck bullets and I sprang from my horse to get his scimetar. Next morning Schamyl sent a messenger to our camp to ask General Voronzoff for the body of his brother who had been killed in the previous day's fight, and he asked also for the return of his scimetar, which, however, could not be found. That is it. It had been an heirloom in the family of Schamyl, the Mohammedan prophet, was said to be seven or eight hundred years old, and had probably been made in the Caucasus out of Damascus steel.'"

CELEBRATE AT HOME.

A Parade by Local Militia Companies on the Fourth.

The three military companies of Oakland, at their own request, have been granted permission to parade in this city on Independence Day this year. The citizens, so far, have taken no measures to celebrate the approaching anniversary, and the committees appointed by the three companies are finding it hard to organize a parade which will do credit to the city. Last evening a meeting was held at Cavalry Hall, and Captain Levy was chosen chairman, Lieutenant Hunt acting as secretary.

All uniformed organizations in the city were invited to parade with the militia, and those accepting the invitation should notify Captain Levy at once, so that arrangements may be made for positions in the column.

The procession will form on Eleventh street, right resting on Washington street, and will start prompt at 10 o'clock. The line of march will be along Washington street to Fourth, to Broadway, to San Pablo avenue to Nineteenth street, to Franklin, to Eighth, to Clay, to Fourteenth to Washington, and dismiss at the City Hall.

The three National Guard companies will form a battalion under the command of Captain Henry Levy, with Lieutenant Hunt as Adjutant. The committees will meet on Monday night at the armory of Company F to make arrangements and to appoint the Grand Marshal and Aids, and all organizations that will participate are requested to send representatives to meet with the military companies.

THE MIDNIGHT HORROR

Of the Burning of Dietz Opera House and the Oakland Theater.

The warning of a disaster which might occur, seemed to strike the nail on the head; but from general opinion, it does not seem to strike the public as favorably as the rapid transit of the People's Express Company, who have become the most popular company on the Pacific coast by being prompt. Their last addition to their service is a large trundle wagon built especially for them, for hauling Pianos and Furniture. Their baggage system is perfect. Trunks checked at Hotels or Residences to all parts of the United States. Telephone 326. Office 423 Tenth street.

The Monterey Dudes.

Two young gentlemen from Alice street are now pickling themselves in the brine of Monterey. They wear seven suits a day, and are the wonder of the fashionable moths that flicker around the electric lamps of Del Monte. Their clothes fit to perfection, and they are usually followed by a throng of young ladies, all looking and anxious for merely one smile. Though clothes do not make the man they have an effect upon his popularity. These young men have all their clothes made by Joe Lancaster, the artist tailor of Oakland, whose trousers, waistcoats, and coats fit like the garments of a gentleman should fit. Lancaster is the tailor for those who want to be well dressed and who also wish to avoid paying fancy prices for no result.

THE FORMULA.

A Banquet Prescribed for the Druggists.

AN AFTERNOON DRIVE FOR HEALTH.

The Sig Did Not Order Enough Room at the Banquet but Nevertheless All Was Merry.

There was a gathering of men and women, young and old, from every portion of this great country, in the parlors, lobbies, and verandas of Tubbs Hotel last evening. Amid the sweet scents of beautiful flowers and festoons of green they moved about chatting gaily over the events of the day. Many of them were much fatigued, yet more pleased. They had just returned from a viewing expedition of Oakland and its suburbs—from a jaunt to Piedmont and the heights thereabouts—around Lake Merritt, and to the flower-crowned villa homes in different portions of the city. And they all expressed themselves as pleased, surprised, delighted. These people were the delegates to the National Pharmaceutical Convention, just closed in San Francisco, and their wives and daughters. But, while they were very much pleased, they were also exceedingly hungry.

Punctually at 7:30 o'clock the dining room doors were thrown open and two by two the guests filed in and took their seats at tables laden with a wealth of good things.

But as the gathering swelled round the festal boards it did not sufficiently diminish in the lobbies without. It appears that through some mistake not fully explained dinner had been ordered for only 150 persons and there appeared fully 200 at the board. The estimate had doubtless been made from the number who came over on the ferry, forgetting that the Oakland pharmacists with their wives, daughters, and invited guests would also be present. This, however, caused only a brief delay. Boniface Davies at once proceeded to prepare the needed places, and very soon all present had seats at the banquet board.

Dr. S. H. Melvin, President of the California Pharmaceutical Association, presided over the feasting and toasting, and at the proper time he arose and rapped for attention. The Italian string band, which had been playing sweet strains during the first part of the feast, at once ceased their music, and in its stead there came a spirit of eloquence and humor "over the nuts and the wine."

Dr. Melvin thanked the visitors for having crossed the continent to come to the Western shore and then introduced acting Mayor W. W. Camron.

Mr. Camron heartily welcomed the visitors on behalf of the city of Oakland. He requested them to come again and to stay. Oakland is not a good city for pharmacists, for, in spite of the present newspaper cry of disease and defective sewerage, it is one of the healthiest cities in the world. But they could change their line of business and come and locate permanently with their families. Oakland is not only famous for its beauty as a city with the grandest surrounding scenery, but it can also boast of the beauty and goodness of its women, and such of the guests as are not already supplied with wives he invited to come and take a look at Oakland's fair, unmarried daughters.

M. W. Alexander of St. Louis accepted Oakland's hospitality, and thanked her people on behalf of the association for their kindness. He felt that he could speak for the entire association when he said that the had been most pleasantly surprised. He hoped all the California pharmacists would join them next year at Point Comfort, when they will try to show what the Atlantic seaboard could do to show their appreciation of the Pacific hospitality by their own good cheer.

H. M. Whitney of Lawrence, Mass., was called upon. He said he had prepared a little speech for the occasion, but the feasting and the pleasant surprises he had met with had utterly driven it out of his head. "I am pleased to have been with you," he continued, "and if we never meet again at the Golden Gate, I hope we shall all gather in the Golden City."

R. P. Heilman of Emporia, Pa., said he had not prepared a speech, but he would recite a little poem which he knew would touch the pharmaceutical heart. It was entitled "The Song of the Druggists' Wives." The effusion in question is an excellent parody on "The Song of the Shirt," and it produced rounds of applause.

At this point the orchestra struck up "Auld Lang Syne," and the guests responded by singing a stanza of the song.

Mr. Herkler of Cleveland, O., said they had passed over arid plains and bleak mountains to find the fairest land under the sun on the Pacific slope.

Professor C. S. Hallberg was introduced as a gentleman representing a little city in Illinois called Chicago. He responded by saying he had seen the golden coast and was lost in wonder and admiration. This land, its climate and resources are the cream of the universe, and its people must be the cream of the earth.

Professor H. M. Whelpley of St. Louis made a brief speech on the tricks in trade of pharmacy.

F. C. Kiel of San Francisco said he wanted his Eastern friends to praise California climate for all it is worth. "We have the big head on that subject, and we have the wherewith to back it up." He thanked the visitors for their kind expressions of fraternity and asked them to "call again."

This ended the entertainment. It was 10 o'clock, and the visitors departed for San Francisco.

Court the Sun.

Chicago Telegraph.

Sleepless people—and there are many in America—should court the sun. The very worst soporific is laudanum; the very best is sunshine. Therefore, it is very plain that poor sleepers should pass as many hours of the day as possible in the sunshine, and as few as possible in the shade. Many women are martyrs and do not know it. They shut the sunshine out of their houses and their hearts; they wear veils; they carry parasols; they do all that is possible to keep off the subtlest, and yet the most potent, influence which is intended to give them strength, and beauty, and

How He Became Famous—A Sketch.

The Walker, Iowa, News says: "Our old friend, Robert Baird, of Muscatine Iowa, has been secretary of the State senate, and an active politician for years, but was never generally known until he had the colic, and used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and got into one of their advertisements. "Now he is famous." Here is what Mr. Baird said: "While in Des Moines, I was taken with a severe attack of bowel complaint. For two days I suffered intensely, trying several drug stores and paying them for relief, but in vain. I finally bought a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and two doses of that brought me out all right. It cost less than the drug store preparations and I have the balance for future use. I consider it a grand remedy." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by WEITMAN & HENRY, 1170 Broadway.

A CASE of female trouble of many years' standing was treated for indigestion and cured by Dr. Bluett. The gases which had formed in the stomach and bowels, together with constipation, had forced the organ out of place and caused the dragging and bearing down sensation. No examinations required in such cases. By consent of the patient, the name and residence will be furnished at Dr. Bluett's office, 1069 Broadway, corner Twelfth street.

SAVED.—A fine family of children were all afflicted with scrofula. Two died early; the rest would soon have followed, but for the timely and persevering use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which built them up into a healthy and vigorous manhood.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla 100 Doses One Dollar

The Chief Reason for the great success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is found in the article itself. It is merit that wins, and the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla actually accomplishes what is claimed for it, is what has given to this medicine a popularity and sale greater than that of any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier before the public.
Merit Wins
Hood's Sarsaparilla cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum and all Humors, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, overcomes That Tired Feeling, creates an Appetite, strengthens the Nerves, builds up the Whole System.

New To-day.

A N efficient yet mild detergent without any of the objectionable properties of ordinary soaps, is what recommends the "IVORY" to intelligent and discriminating people. Its cheapness brings it within the reach of every one.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

JUNE JAUNTS.

Getting Away For the July Holiday.

THOSE WHO REMAIN GET MARRIED.

The Happy Scenes Where Young People Plight Their Troth Until Death Them Doth Part.

People looked at him and smiled, but never said a word. Sympathy bubbled out of their hearts up into their pearly throats, but they swallowed it again. He sat there at midnight under the yellow gas light, where two streets meet in silence and vanish. He was that dire visaged individual, from whose face smiles are continually absent. He never indulged in a vacation race, with its painted fripperies of human happiness. He who should be fortune of his lot be a signal lantern on the high bluffs of destiny, and swing to and fro at each puff of the fatal draught that whips into shreds the gaudy muslins of feminine idolatry is but a grumbler astride the log of remorse, biting his fingers in penance. This poor heretic believes that he is only a shock of fodder, waiting to be thrown into the rack of fate when bellowing gormandizers satiate their appetites.

This is the month of weddings according to the usual course of social smoke. But how June left them this year. The little bubbling, hymeneal watering place is in danger of drying up. A green scum has grown over it already. Vacation being the fashion, matrimony must wait. The social happenings are something of a repetition each week, but in some way the whirl is kept moving.

ENGAGEMENTS.

The engagement is announced of Miss Lizzie Harrel, a young lady well known in Oakland, and W. A. Dow a prominent member of the last graduated class at the State University. They will be married Wednesday, July 3d, at the bride's home on Eleventh street. The wedding will be private.

TEVIS-PACHECO.

On Thursday evening Miss Mabel Ramona Pacheco, daughter of ex-Governor and Mrs. Romualdo Pacheco and William Sanders Tevis, son of Mr and Mrs. Lloyd Tevis, were joined by the hymenial vow. The wedding occurred at Grace Church, corner of California and Powell streets, San Francisco, and is one of the most important events, socially, that the blossoms of June ever had occasion to embower. The church was crowded with distinguished persons and members of many of the leading families of San Francisco and others throughout the State who were able to attend.

In itself the church is a beautiful Gothic structure, and within displays a mass of decorations that were blended into the most artistic harmony with the soft flush of June blossoms. In all the decorations the gothic was taken as a basis about which was raised a superstructure of floral beauty that was indeed bewildering. On either side of the chancel back of the choir was a [illegible] of miniature gothic arches, alternating in color from pink to white, on a background of green fresh ferns and smilax. The arches were of pink carnations and soft, fluffy, white hollyhocks, and rested on banks of white and pink hydrangeas. The front seats were wreathed with white and pink holly[illegible] crosses, while the ends of the settees were half hidden beneath a profusion of smilax, sweet peas, vines, and maiden's hair ferns. At the back of the chancel was a representation in [illegible] of a real old English choir. [illegible] decorations, which were certainly a work of high art, were the productions of Dr. Harry Tevis' artistic [illegible]

At 8:30 o'clock the mellow notes of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" announced the coming of the bridal party, and soon they met the expectant gaze of the eager multitude. The six ushers came first: Carter Tevis and Samuel Tevis, the groom's cousins E. M. Greenway and Frank Carolan, and G. Vernon Gray and Perry P. Eyre. Following came the maid of honor, Miss Tessie Fair, unaccompanied, and immediately behind her came the bride leaning on the arm of her father. The usual form at the altar was disregarded and the groom, accompanied by his brother, Hugh Tevis, met the bride at the chancel. The ushers took their places, three on one side and three on the other. The maid of honor stood to the right of the bride's father and next to the bride on the left, while the best man took his place on the groom's right. The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Foute, rector of the church, and at the conclusion of the solemn vow Right Rev. Bishop Kip pronounced the blessing.

With the exception of the Fairs, who are old and intimate friends of Mr. and Mrs. Pacheco and the clergy, none but the relatives were present at the reception, which followed the ceremony, at Hotel Bella Vista. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Romualdo Pacheco, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tevis, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Blanding, Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Miller of Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Tevis, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Foute, Rt. Rev. Bishop and Mrs. Kip, Mrs. Fair, Mrs. Captain Hillard, Miss Lizzie Tevis, Miss Birdie Fair, Miss Adelaide Hillard, Miss Mary Hillard, Harry Tevis, Harry Miller, Bernard Miller, and James Fair.

The reception rooms were handsomely decorated and occupied five apartments on the first floor.

The friends present at the church were: Mr. and Mrs. Fisher Ames, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Alexander, Miss Ella Adams, Mr. and Mrs. William Alvord, the Misses Ashe, Mrs. C. L. Ashe, Mrs. S. L. Bee, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. [illegible], Miss Julia Bissell, H. M. [illegible], Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Blanding, Miss Jennie Blair, W. S. Blair, Miss [illegible] Blethen, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Boardman, Miss Dora Boardman, Miss [illegible] Bowie, Mrs. M. S. Latham, M. [illegible] Latham, A. St. J. Bowie, Mr. R. L. Bowie, Mr. and Mrs. James Carolan, Miss Evelyn Carolan, H. A. Carolan, Miss Charlotte Chamberlain, Mrs. Jeremiah Clarke, Misses Clarke, Mrs. J. M. Coit, Miss Lillie O'Connor, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Crocker, Mrs. Peter Donahue, Mrs. Theresa Fair, Miss Birdie Fair, James G. Fair, Mr. R. C. Foute, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gibbs, Miss Mattie Gibbs, Harry T. Gibbs, [illegible] Carrie Gwin, Carlton C. Coleman, John B. Hager, Miss Virginia [illegible]te, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel [illegible], Fred B. Lake, Miss Mary [illegible], Mr. and Mrs. Louis Marshall, Miss Nellie Marshall, George T. Marye Jr., Mrs. John H. Maynard, the Misses Maynard, Carrie McAfee, Mrs. [illegible] M. Newhall, George A. Newhall, [illegible] Newlands, Miss Tiny O'Connor, [illegible] and Mrs. James Otis, Mr. [illegible] Lucy [illegible], Mr. and Mrs. M. Hall McAllister, [illegible] and Mrs. Charles Page, Warren R. [illegible], Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Redding, A. [illegible], M. S. Wilson, Miss Bessie [illegible]wick, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Dodge, [illegible] and Mrs. Charles Bailey, [illegible] and Mrs. W. R. Shafter, E. H. [illegible], R. L. Sherwood, Mrs. L. Con[illegible], Mr. and Mrs. J. Henley [illegible], Mr. and Mrs. S. Harrison [illegible], Mr. and Mrs. William Hinckley, [illegible]ylor, Miss Gracie Taylor, Cap[illegible] Mrs. W. H. Taylor, Miss [illegible] Taylor, Judge J. D. Thornton, [illegible], Mrs. A. N. Towne, [illegible] H. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. [illegible], Miss Mari Voor[illegible], [illegible]rhies, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wright, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. McGavin.

The wedding presents were numerous and very valuable.

MORRIS-CHAMBERLAIN WEDDING.

Out on San Pablo avenue, where tall trees hold their lonely vigils throughout the dark nights without even the companionship of a gas lamp, a very happy wedding occurred at the cheerful residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chamberlain on Wednesday night, when their daughter, Miss Harriet J. Chamberlain, and Harry Morris were united in marriage. The house was brilliantly illuminated and the decorations, which were chiefly made up of green and oleandar blossoms, displayed a variety of taste that was most artistic and pleasing. In the back conservatory was a magnificent arch composed of the rich foliage of tropical plants and ferns. The ferns, which were of the most luxuriant variety, came from the Madrono vineyards in Sonoma county. The rooms were all handsomely decorated, the lower ones with ferns and oleanders, and the upper halls with sweet peas and vines. Vases filled with the choicest roses and flowers stood upon the mantles and in the vestibules. Among them was one conspicuous for its delicate beauty and variety. It was filled with a kind of foliage, pearly white, picked from some secluded redwood tree in Sonoma. It was in the perfect likeness of a redwood twig, without a tinge of color. The front conservatory was a profusion of clinging vines and flowers, choice and fragrant. Fairy lamps peeped at the guest from behind little clumps of green, and the scene was most attractive.

At 8 o'clock the bridal party approached the hymeneal bower, and an impressive ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. G. W. Isar of Memorial Church, San Francisco.

The bride was prettily attired in a Directoire costume of faille francaise, en traine, with orange blossoms clinging to the laces. Her bouquet was a beautiful bunch of orange blossoms.

The bridesmaids, numbering nine, were very handsomely dressed. Miss Chamberlain wore pale green satin, and carried a bouquet of Marechal Niel roses.

Miss Ida Chamberlain was dressed in cream India silk; bouquet, La France roses.

Miss Clara Morris wore cream surah silk, trimmed with lace; bouquet, La France rosebuds.

Miss Maria Bisscher wore peach blow satin, and held a large bouquet of Marechal Niel roses.

Miss Grace Wade was attired in old rose India silk, which was very attractive, and she held a bouquet of Marechal Niel roses.

Miss Gertrude Mason of Warm Springs was dressed in cream surah with lace; bouquet, La France roses.

Miss Dornin wore a light blue India silk; bouquet, La France roses; and Miss Alice Dornin was attired in cream surah and carried La France roses.

Miss Ada Parks wore a beautiful surah robe and carried a bouquet of La France roses.

Mrs. Charles Chamberlain was becomingly arrayed in a rich black satin, trimmed in elegant Spanish lace.

Mrs. Morris, mother of the groom, wore an elegant green silk.

The best man was A. S. Latham.

At the close of the ceremony the guests were invited to the dining rooms, which were appropriately decorated and very attractive, where they were seated at tete-a-tete tables and a sumptuous supper was enjoyed.

While they disposed of the dainty morsels the string band filled the rooms with low music. Dancing was then indulged in until the late hour summoned all, even though reluctant, to hasten away, but not until they had left kind words of congratulation with the happy couple, and expressed their good will to Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain for their generous hospitality.

Among the invited guests were many from Mrs. Chamberlain's old home in New York State, as well as from nearer places: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chamberlain, Miss Libbie Chamberlain, Miss Ida Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. Morris, Miss Clara Morris, Mr. and Mrs. John Finn, Berkeley; Charles, Edward and Robert Finn, Berkeley; Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Howland, New York; Miss Kate Johnson, Oswego, N. The newly married couple have departed for parts unknown. Upon their return they will make their home in Oakland. Mr. Morris is a well known young business man in the employ of Holbrook, Merrill & Stetson, San Francisco.

GREEN-KING.

The long expected wedding of Miss Tillie E. King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James King of this city, and Charles T. Green, a promising young business man of Oakland, who has been associated with James A. Joyce in the dry goods trade, took place Thursday night, June 27th. The young couple and a host of friends crossed the dark bay Thursday night at 6:30 P. M., in spite of fog and tossing waves, and assembled at St. Mary's Cathedral, together with many friends who live in San Francisco. The church was charming enough, enlivened by such a happy throng to court the envy of the fairies. The altar and chancel was illuminated with tapers, draped in silken tapestries, and strewn with choice and fragrant flowers. Strains of music, played by six pieces of stringed instruments, from the Oakland City Band, wound a silver cord round every second of the half hour preceding the eventful occasion.

At length the music paused, then burst forth the wedding march from Mendelssohn, and eyes were never more inquisitive than those straining for the first glimpse of the radiant bridal procession. With an air of splendor the bridal party moved down the aisle. First came the four ushers—Marcus King, brother of the bride, Thomas Manning, Frank Hopkins, and Thomas Rathgen. The bridesmaids, Misses Kittie Manning and Daisy Rivers, followed. Then came the maid of honor, Miss Dottie King, followed in close succession by the bride, escorted by her father. At the altar they were met by the groom and his two groomsmen, Messrs. Thomas Rathgen and Thomas O'Halloran. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Cleary and was very impressive and beautiful.

The bride was arrayed in a white Ottoman silk, brocaded front and court train. Her veil was caught in the coiffure with a brilliant setting of diamonds, and several diamond hairpins sparkled in her tresses. Her necklace was of pearls and diamonds, and she carried an elegant bouquet of white sweet peas.

The maid of honor wore a Grecian costume, en train, and carried a basket of La France and Marechal Niel rosebuds.

The attire of Miss Daisy Rivers, one of the bridesmaids, was cream nun's veiling, Directoire costume, with facings of silk.

Miss Kittie Manning's dress was cream cassimere, Directoire style, faced with moss green velvet. The bridesmaids carried La France roses.

At the close of the ceremony the bridal party passed into the vestibule where the bride received the congratulations of her many friends. They immediately left for Oakland on the 8:30 boat and repaired to the home of the bride, where a reception was given to many of the friends of the contracting parties and where an elaborate wedding supper was served. When the company reached the cottage home on 817 Harrison street, the band was playing low sweet melodies from a hidden retreat and continued until the guests were all assembled. Two beautiful tables heaped with all that is known to be good for the palate of man, wreathed with ropes of smilax and ferns, stood in waiting for the pleasure of the guests. The band discoursed sweet music throughout the feast and the affair was a grand success. Near 12 o'clock the company sallied to the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Boyer, where another supper was spread before departure.

Mr. and Mrs. Green departed for Sacramento, and are at present staying at the Golden Eagle Hotel. They will make a trip through the Eastern States before returning to Oakland.

Among the many invited guests were: Mrs. J. L. Rivers, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyer, Thomas Manning, Miss Kittie Manning, Marcus King, Frank Hopkins, Thomas Rathgen, Miss Mollie Myers, Miss Josie Rivers; Father King, rector of the Church of the Immaculate Conception; Father Cranwell and Father Doran, curates of the Church of the Immaculate Conception; Father McElroy, San Leandro; Miss Katie Rivers, Miss Josie Rivers, Mrs. Dr. Fitzgibbon, Mr. and Mrs. Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter, Miss Lucy Donovan, Miss Stella Le Breff, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bush, Mrs. Starbaker, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marston, Miss Kate Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Bassett, John Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. Donovan, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bennett and family, Haywards; Mr. and Mrs. Neal Rasmussen, Haywards; Percy Lang, William Lee, William Stanton, Mr. Strowbridge and Misses Ella and Emma Strowbridge, Haywards; Misses Brown, Petaluma; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Summers, Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs, Miss Hattie Hallahan, Misses Ella and Kittie Hallahan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wider, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Callahan, Miss Jennie Callanan, James McClosky, Salt Lake City; Misses Jane and Mary Cravens, Frank Noyer, Dr. Dean, Miss Kittie Heney, James McCarthy, Misses Josie and Aggie Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McAvoy, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McAvoy, Miss Tillie Waters, Miss Sallie Campbell, Mrs. G. M. Sears, Mr. and Mrs. John Green, Dublin; William Kahill, Miss Belle Summers, and others.

JENKS-LYONS.

The happy wedding of Miss Jennie Lyons, niece of Mrs. Potter, and Chancellor L. Jenks Jr., a young lawyer of San Diego, nephew of Judge Jenks, formerly of this city, occurred on Monday evening at the residence of Samuel L. Potter, corner Eleventh and Jefferson streets. A few intimate friends were present, and a number of the relatives of the contracting parties, including the bridegroom's grandfather and the bride's grandparents. The rooms were tastefully decorated. The ceremony was very impressively performed by the Rev. F. A. Horton. The groom is the son of Chancellor L. Jenks, a well known capitalist in Chicago. The newly married couple will enjoy a short honeymoon, and will make their future home in San Diego.

RUSSELL-WILKINSON.

The marriage of Miss Minnie K. Wilkinson, daughter of W. H. Wilkinson of Oakland, and John Russell, M. D. of Denver, occurred Monday, June 17th, at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in San Francisco, the Rev. B. O'Baker officiating.

A RIDE IN STRAW.

A number of young people took a delightful straw ride last Monday night, and are very anxious for the opportunity to come when they can indulge in another. Straw rides are scarce and seldom loom up even in the most luxuriant neighborhoods of society. This one in its course made a "bee line" for Haywards, had a supper and a general good time at the Haywards Hotel, and returned by the road that terminates in Alameda. The party was made up by W. J. Downie and B. E. Mehring. The creaking wheels of the dusty wain as it entered the city testified to the amount of joyful travel its inmates had enjoyed.

YOUNG MEN'S INSTITUTE SOCIAL.

The social given by the young men to the young ladies at the Young Men's Institute Hall in East Oakland Friday night, June 21st, was a very successful affair. After a number of dances the guests retired to the supper room, which was beautifully decorated, and enjoyed the bountiful repast. Again dancing was indulged in until the early hours. Those who enjoyed the pleasures of the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Doolan, Miss Lizzie Doolan, Mrs. M. O. Connoll, Miss May Lamping, Miss Grace Hawkins, Mrs. Annie Whitman, Miss Ethel F. Leland, Mrs. H. M. Stearns, Mrs. Derby, Miss Lilley Lamping, Mrs. Blate, Mrs. Harvy, Miss Minnie Jordan, Miss Kate Derby, Miss Hattie Derby, Miss Annie Fonte, Miss Hampel, Miss Maria Fonte, Miss Mary Hampel, Miss Mary Brunjis, Miss May Lamb, Miss Kittie Murphy, Miss A. Lamp, J. Scott, Mr. Des Marian, C. Hill, Mr. Baxter, F. White.

A DANCE IN WEST OAKLAND.

The members of the Young Men's Institute, No. 8, held an open meeting at Fraternity Hall on Wednesday evening, which proved to be one of unusual interest. The exercises were opened with an address by J. F. Kenny who is to enter upon his second term of office as president of the association. Then came a vocal solo by Miss Veri Cullen, which was very creditably rendered and called for an encore. Some excellent instrumental music was rendered by the El Modello Double Quartet, composed of the following gentlemen: First tenors, W. Halloway, A. A. Baker; second tenors, William Quinn, R. Reynolds; baritone, Prof. J. Brant, J. F. Kenney; bass, William Shaw, J. R. McGuffie. These gentlemen kindly furnished music on this and other occasions and the members of the Institute are very grateful to them for their courtesy.

A recitation was given by Miss M. Young and was followed by a comic song by J. Hooley which was very pleasing and made a happy close to the programme.

The exercises being completed dancing was in order and in a few moments the room seemed to be full of gay crickets whose only thought was to dance and be merry. Refreshments were served at a late hour when dancing was resumed with renewed zeal. The company did not disperse until the morning mist warned them of the approaching day.

TENNIS AT DEL MONTE.

The lawn tennis tournament, which has been talked so much about to take place at the Hotel Del Monte, has been completely arranged, and most of the players are putting on the "finishing touches." The tournament will take place July 4th, and as several entries have been made from unknown players in St. Paul, Minn., Portland, Or., and southern California the affair will be one of high competition and of decided interest.

The following names have been entered on the roll: C. H. Wright, Minnesota Lawn Tennis Club; E. A. Adams, Multonomah Lawn Tennis Club, Portland, Or.; V. H. Hartley, Cosmos Lawn Tennis Club, Sacramento, Cal.; Alexander P. Stewart, Lakeside Lawn Tennis Club, Oakland, Cal.; Mr. Wilberforce, Los Angeles; and from the California Lawn Tennis Club of San Francisco W. H. Taylor Jr., C. R. Yates, J. Tobin, G. V. Gray, E. N. Bee, August Taylor, J. M. Kilgariff, Valentine Gadesden, Jesse Godley, Ogden Hoffman, and R. Harrison.

INSTALLATION AND SOCIAL.

At California Hall on Clay street an entertainment of unusual interest was given on Tuesday night by the members of the Catholic Ladies' Aid Society, No. 1. A prominent feature of the evening was the installation of officers for the ensuing six months. A large number of ladies and only a few gentlemen were in attendance. The literary and musical exercises were excellent, and were followed by a course of ice cream and cakes.

Past President Miss Mary Carr, the installing officer of the evening in well put terms authorized the newly elected officers for the next six months. The following officers were installed: President, Mrs. O. C. Kirk; Senior Vice President, Mrs. Price; Junior Vice President, Miss Hampel; Treasurer, Mrs. McGinnis; Financial Secretary, Miss Flynn; Recording Secretary, Miss Reed; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Brockhaue; Executive Committee, Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Knapp, Mrs. Dr. O'Brend, Miss Flynn; Marshal, Mrs. Felton; Guard, Miss Hollehan.

At the close of the installation Mrs. O. C. Kirk, the new President, took the chair and made a short and appropriate address, thanking the society for the honor conferred upon her, and promising to do her utmost to fulfill the duties of the office given to her charge. She then gave the guests of the evening a hearty welcome, and announced the first number of the programme, a real duet, by Misses Lena Haloran and Jennie McGramb, which was very acceptable. An original poem, written by Miss Mary Lambert, a member of the society, was read by Miss Lauretta Kirk. Miss Fannie Smith followed with a recitation entitled "Aux Italiens," that showed to advantage her talent as a speaker. The "Good Night" song closed the exercises. It was rendered by the Catholic Ladies' Aid Society quartet, and at its close many started to go away, but Mrs. Kirk told all to wait as they were not done with them yet.

Another hour was devoted to sociability. Ice cream, cakes, and salads, with fruit, were served in abundance and a splendid time enjoyed.

THE SPARE MITE CIRCLE.

On Friday night, June 21st, the Spare Mite Circle of the First Methodist Church of San Francisco met at the home of Miss E. Westgate of Alameda. There was a large attendance. The programme was very interesting, and at its close refreshments were served. The best part of the evening was spent in social conversation and by several musical selections of merit rendered by Miss Westgate. The programme was: Critic's report, A. Hutchinson; piano solo, "Kathleen Mavourneen," Miss Graves; original poem, dedicated to the "S. M. C.," Miss E. Westgate; vocal solo, "Dare I Tell," Miss L. C. Nightingale; "Literary Acorn," Part I, Miss I. Johnston, editress; zither solo, selected, F. H. Maar; recitation, "Whistling in Heaven," Miss S. C. Pollard; vocal duet, "I Live and Love Thee," the Misses Sansom; essay, "Disadvantages of Picnics," Miss F. Truell; piano solo, "Lost Hope," Miss Graves; "Literary Acorn," Part II, Miss I. Johnston, editress; zither solo, selected, F. H. Maar.

THE LIGHTS O' CHESTER STREET.

A very pleasant surprise party was given in honor of Miss Clara Billington at her home, 1014 Chester street, last Tuesday evening. The house was most beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers and trailing vines, which fell in graceful festoons from the chandelier in the center of the room to picture frames on the wall. Between the folding doors was an arch of smilax and choice lilies. The parlors were canvased, and dancing was indulged in until 12 o'clock, when the grand march summoned all to the dining room, where a bounteous repast was disposed of most cheerfully. The affair was a very pleasant one, and was a complete surprise to Miss Billington, who wonders why she did not find out something about it from her mother, for Mrs. Billington was discovered to be somewhat tangled in the secret.

Among the invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Billington, Miss Clara Billington, Miss May Grayson, Miss Tillie Reaney, Miss Sarah Nolan, Miss May Galvin, Misses May Reaney, Maggie Reaney, Lillie Turner, May Dorris, May Sumurs, Fannie Walker, A. Walker, A. Tealoldt, Carrie Bloom, Nettie Childs, Georgie Padgett, Nellie Childs, Belle Frazier, Kitte Bruce, Annie Frazier, Minnie Walker, Miss Chapman, Ellie Remillard, Messrs. CAMPERS IN MORAGA VALLEY.

One of the tented resorts in Moraga valley is called "Happy Camp." The campers are from Alameda. Their tent is pitched near a clump of redwood trees. The occupants of the camp are Mrs. E. P. Moreal, Miss Moreal, Mrs. S. Mott, Miss Mott, and on Sundays by guests who may chance to come that way. Mr. Moreal spends Sunday at the camp, and during week days, as the ladies need a guardian of masculine metal, Charles Price tries to fill the bill, and he enjoys it, too.

Near Mr. Moreal's camp is the Gunn camp. It is occupied by Mrs. John Gunn Jr., Mrs. E. Burley, Miss Florence Burley, Eddie Burley, Walter Burley, Mrs. W. A. Gunn, Elsie, Allie, Alice, Eva, and Hazel Gunn, Mrs. C. Snow of San Francisco, Miss Annabelle McDonald and Miss May McDonald of Sonoma, and Miss Bertha Westerhauser.

PIMPLES TO SCROFULA.

A Positive Cure for every Skin, Scalp and Blood Disease except Ichthyosis.

Psoriasis 8 years. Head, arms and breast a solid scab. Back covered with sores. Best Doctors and medicines fail. Cured by Cuticura Remedies at a cost of $3 75.

I have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES with the best results. I used two bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, three boxes of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and am cured of a terrible skin and scalp disease known as psoriasis. I had it for eight years. It would get better and worse at times. Sometimes my head would be a solid scab, and was at the time I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My arms were covered with scabs from my elbows to shoulders, my breast was almost one solid scab, and my back covered with sores varying in size from a penny to a dollar. I had doctored with all the best doctors with no relief, and used many different medicines without effect. My case was hereditary, and, I began to think, incurable, but it began to heal from the first application of CUTICURA.

ARCHER RUSSELL, Deshler, O.

Skin Disease 6 Years Cured.

I am thankful to say that I have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES for about eight months with great success, and consider myself entirely cured of salt rheum, from which I have suffered for six years. I tried a number of medicines and two of the best doctors in the country, but found nothing that would effect a cure until I used your remedies.

MRS. A. McCLAFLIN, Morette, Mo.

The Worst Case of Scrofula Cured

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, CUTICURA SOAP.

PATERSON, N. J., Jun 29.—La er details of the finding of six asphyxiated bodies in the den at 47 Ryle venue ast night were re olting. Three of the female victims wer less than 20 years old, their name Rella and Sarah McNally, sisters, and Emma Wright. The other woman wa Kate White, 24 years old. Godfrey G rtade, 73 years old, the keep r of the resort, ev dently died many hours before the others. The body of an unknown Turk aged 30 was found in a better state of pr serva- tion than the others. Broken china and toilet articles literally covered the floor, and filth ab unded everywhere. A white woman who was pregnant, sat in a chair n ar the window in a sickening attitu e and presented a horrible spectacle in death. All evidently had been craze with drink and had had a drunken brawl. Evidently somebody tripped over the rubber tube which conveyed gas from the iron pipe to the gas range. The windows and doo s were fastened. The house has been the scene of two suicides and one murder prior to last night's ghastly find. The most touching inciden connected with the affair was the frantic efforts of the mother of the McNally sisters this morning to see her daughters whom she believed virtuous.

CLAIM JUMPING.

Artesian Well Borers Strike a Lead of Auriferous Quartz.

BLACKFOOT CITY, Mont., June 29.—Grave fears are entertained of a general uprising and wholesale butchery in the Oro Fino mining district on account of claim jumping by two brothers named Moore, who have twenty cowboys in their employ. Saturday the Moores in sinking an artesian well uncovered a vein of gold and silver bearing quartz and jumped the whole townsite of Champion, near Deer Lodge, under the mine al laws. Dozens of claims have been staked out on the lead by jumpers, and a messenger has been sent to Helena to enable them to retain possession of the property. The Sheriff and posse have gone to Champion to prevent trouble.

A POLYGAMOUS DOCTOR.

The President Commutes His Two Year Sentence to Six Months.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—In the case of Dr. Warren E. Day, convicted in the United States Dist ict Cour for the District of Arkansas, of polygamy, and sentenced to two years' imprisonment in penitentiary and whose sentence was commuted in April, 1889, to one year, the President has, upon further papers being submitted asking a full pardon made the following endorsement: "In consideration of new facts relating chiefly to good record of this man as a soldier, but in part tending to show there exists some small doubt as to his technical guilt, I further commute his sentence to a term of six months."

CONSULS APPOINTED.

Commercial Agent of This Country in Many Foreign Lands.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The President has made the following Consular appointments: William T. Sorsby of Mississippi at Guayaquil; Edward C. Goodenow of Maine at St. Stephens, N. B.; Daniel B. Hubbard of Massachusetts at Annaberg, Germany; Hugo M. Starkbloff of Missouri, at Bremen; William T. Gunnell of New York, at Manchester; John A. Tibbits of Connecticut, at Bradford; Robert W. Turner of Kansas, at Cadiz; M. D. Simpson of Kansas, at St. John, N. B.

THE PETREL'S TRIAL.

Her Behavior Under Test Circumstances Highly Commended.

BALTIMORE, June 29.—The Gunboat Petrel made her trial trip yesterday loaded with a weight equivalent to the normal equipment of guns, ordinance coal and stores. She acted admirably, making the run from the dry dock to the lower entrance of Craighill channel and back in two hours—a distance of twenty-seven miles. Her steady motion under the temporary trimming was remarked by the naval officers of the board.

The Schoolmaster Abroad.

NEW YORK, June 28.—About four hundred school teachers sail d on the steamer "Suevia" his morning for a tour of Europe and a visit to the Paris exposition.

The President's Way.

[WASHI]NGTON, June 29.—Mrs. Harrison, accompanied by her father, the children and servants, returned this afternoon from Cape May [At] 11 o'clock the President, without saying a word to any one, put on his hat and coat, went to the depot and took the train to meet them. This he did at Baltimore, and completely surprised them. His absence from the White House was noted, and the attaches at once jumped to the right conclusion. Next week the President and Mrs. Harrison go to Woodstock to spend the Fourth.

The Mountain Miners' Strike.

ALTOONA, Pa., June 29.—There are indications that the strike among the mountain miners will be far reaching. About 10,000 men are already out and others are expected to follow.

Tried by His Peers.

CHARLESTON, June 29.—The jury in the McDow case retired at half-past one o'clock to-day, and after deliberating two hours, returned the verdict of "not guilty."

CRAZED BY TROUBLE.

The Disappearance of Mrs. Kentucky Sanford.

EDITOR TRIBUNE—Standing on my hearth with my household gods shattered around me, I wish, through the medium of the press, to give the correct version of the disappearance of my wife, who became insane and disappeared last Wednesday afternoon while I was in San Francisco, and left one little child three and a half years old on my hands.

We came to the State years ago, brought money with us, and settled in Los Angeles, and, like many others, everything was swept from us during the boom there, and even our household goods were stolen from us while in transit to the depot.

I came to San Francisco and sought in vain for work at my trade. As well might an Eastern printer seek for work in South Africa as in California. It was only a half loaf I got—the leavings, as it were—laid off on account of dull times. It dethroned my wife's reason, and she disappeared.

I never abused my friends. I idolize my little child. I never allow my wife to whip my child, that is the only trouble between us. My little child is a great singer, and even now, at its tender age, can sing any note. Its mother is a great singer, and sung in the choir of the grand cathedral at New York years ago. I never struck my wife. I am a Southerner—intensely Southern—and people in my section never abuse a woman.

It is hard to realize the awful position I am placed in. My household gods are shattered around me. I could not stay on this earth without my little child. He would not go to bed without me. There is no home for her without her papa or mama. My little child would die with grief if she was separated from me.

I lay on my back for six months and could not move my hands and my wife fed me with a spoon and was always true to me, and I can only walk now by the aid of compresses that I have on my left leg.

Through the damnable system that prevails it is to be regretted that because a man is born East of the Rockies he shall not be allowed to earn his daily bread, and must see starvation and rags for his little ones. Destroy the home and you destroy everything in California. God knows there are very few happy homes here.

FIRE PROOF PAINT.

A Composition That Successfully Resists Fire.

The New York Fire Proof Paint Company has appointed C. A. Scoville of this city its Pacific coast agent, with head quarters at 471 Ninth street. The company makes fire proof paint and soteria, a compound resembling whitewash for rough work. In tests given by Mr. Scoville a thin shingle coated once with either of these compounds when held in a gas flame for ten minutes failed to burn or even to char more than the surface. John S. Damrell, Inspector of Buildings in Boston, has highly recommended the paint in a public letter to the paint works. Gates A. Johnson, Inspector of Buildings of St. Paul, Minn., highly recommends the use of this paint and says he knows it has saved many a building from burning. The New Orleans Fire Underwriters passed a resolution recommending it for all buildings, and hundreds of others speak the same way. After a half hour's test of the most severe kind the West Berkeley Planing Mill at Berkeley bought enough paint to coat their buildings thoroughly, and the Coronado Hotel is painted with it. The Smithsonian Institute after a careful analysis of the compound, highly recommended it and ordered its buildings repainted with this paint. It comes in all colors and will surely save your houses from loss by fire. Mr. Scoville will give a practical test of the paint in a few days on the public streets. Further particulars will be furnished by him at 471 Ninth street.

No Bagging at the Knees.

"Have you seen the latest?" is a question going the rounds now with the accompanying response, "Yes, I have them." To the uninitiated these words appear to be as bad as Greek, but those who know are aware that the question refers to the latest in summer goods—checks, stripes, and plaids. There is only one place in Oakland that keeps up with with the demand for the latest and that is O'Conner & Co., the merchant tailors at 1010 Broadway. Their suits are cut in the very latest styles and their fits please even the perfectly correct Bohemians of San Francisco.

An Avenue in Washington.

Among the other streets in Washington named after noted men is Lancaster avenue, a most charming driveway leading from the Capitol to Arlington Heights by way of the long bridge across the Potomac. This street was not named after a dead soldier, but to the contrary was named after Joe Lancaster, the artist tailor of Oakland here, who furnishes the President and his Cabinet with those beautiful $35 dress suits. Of course everybody goes to Lancaster's for their clothes, for if they did not they would not be in style.

A CASE of eczema or salt rheum, which had extended over the whole body, only the face and hands had been treated by Dr. Bluett for some six weeks with rapid improvement from the start is now about well. The patient is well known in business circles and by consent his name and residence can be had at the Doctor's office, 1000 Broadway, corner Twelfth street.

The Smiling Face.

Readers of THE TRIBUNE are wondering whose picture that was which was published in the paper a week or more ago, said to have been an overjoyed Sixth warder. The truth is the picture was not that of a Sixth ward resident, but of a man back in Chicago who had just learned of Ormsby, the photographer, at 1055 Broadway, and his wonderful pictures, and it affected him as it does everybody whe they learn this pleasing news. Ormsby is known all over the world.

Kept Cool.

The only butcher in East Oakland who has a patent refrigerator for preserving his meats is M. Y. Stewart, whose shop is at 411 East Twelfth street, near Seventh avenue. Mr. Stewart's popularity is attested by the crowds who flock daily to his place to buy meats.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF PUBLIC Works of the City of Oakland, June 29, 1889.

Pursuant to Resolution No. 11062 of the City Council, sealed proposals will be received in open session of the Board of Public Works on Tuesday, the 23d day of July, A. D. 1889, between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock P. M., for furnishing carts, teams, labor, water (either salt or fresh) and all necessary materials for sprinkling the paved and macadamized streets of the City of Oakland for the term of one year. The work to be done under the supervision and to the satisfaction of the Superintendent of Streets.

Bidders may specify in their proposals for sprinkling the paved and macadamized streets of the whole city, or of sections not less than one ward in extent, and state the compensation, either by the day for the time actually occupied in doing the work under the direction of the Superintendent of Streets, or by the month at a fixed sum for the several months of the year in which sprinkling may be required.

For length of streets and amount of sprinkling service required, bidders are referred to data in the office of the Superintendent of Streets.

Nine sprinkling carts now in use are the property of the city, and bidders desiring to use them will state in their proposals the allowance they will make for the use of said carts.

Each bid must be accompanied by a check certified to by some responsible bank, drawn during the month of July on or before the above date, made payable to the order of J. M. Brady, Clerk of the Council for not less than ten per cent of the aggregate of the proposal, which check shall be forfeited to the City of Oakland should the bidder receiving the award fail within ten days to enter into a contract and furnish a good and sufficient bond in the sum of twenty five per cent of the award for the faithful performance of the contract.

The board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

All proposals must be made upon blanks of the Board of Public Works, which will be furnished upon application by the Secretary, and must be indorsed "Proposals for Sprinkling Streets."

By order of the Board of Public Works.

ARTHUR S. WARD,
Secretary pro tem.
